Forrestal Advice Followed, Senate Hears of Amerasia

Vardaman Says Secretary Acted to Avoid Any Upset of U.N. at San Francisco

Washington, June 8 (AP)—A congressional source said today that a secret federal grand jury is looking into the 1945 Amerasia case in New York.

The source, who asked not to be named, said the grand jury has called many of the witnesses who have appeared before a Senate committee which is looking into the secret documents case.

The Senate group is centering its attention on the question of who delayed arrests in the affair. It is reported to have received secret testimony that the late James V. Forrestal probably advised delaying arrests in the 1945 Amerasia case.

Testimony Is Heard
Washington, June 8 (AP)—Senate investigators were reported today to have received secret testimony that the late James V. Forrestal probably advised delaying arrests in the 1945 Amerasia case.

A source in close touch with the Senate inquiry into the secret documents case told a reporter the testimony came from Assistant Attorney General James M. McInerney, chief of the Justice Department's criminal division. The source asked not to be named.

Forrestal was Secretary of the Navy at the time the case broke five years ago. Later he became Secretary of Defense. He was killed last year in a plunge from an upper floor of the naval medical center at Bethesda, Md.

The information about the testimony regarding Forrestal came to light in the wake of still another authoritative report that the committee got testimony yesterday that former presidential aide James K. Vardaman may have tried to delay prosecution. (Continued on Page 13, Col. 5)

Eisenhower Fears Unwatched Arms Spending by U. S.

Might Bleed Economy Badly, He Advises Graduating Class at Columbia

New York, June 8 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that huge military expenditures are necessary but "if unwatched, may dangerously bleed the economy and even destroy that we seek to protect."

Eisenhower made the statement in a speech prepared for the 196th commencement exercises of Columbia University, which he heads. He told the Columbia graduates that "extraneous military expenditures," though "essential for the country's safety," are one of the major problems to be faced in the future.

Eisenhower recently said before a U. S. Senate appropriations subcommittee that our military budget had been trimmed as far as was wise "even too far."

He said at that time that he might have added a few hundred million dollars—not more than $500,000,000—to the proposed budget for arms, if he had his way.

However, before the committee he also listed a healthy economy as an essential for national safety.

Danger of Wrong Answers
Gen. Eisenhower said today that the danger of wrong answers to the nation's own problems is as critical as the danger from "world revolution, with an announced purpose of destroying the American system of government."

He listed among the problems the graduates must face: "The growing and, apparently, voluntary dependence of many groups upon governmental subsidies."

The future character of our medical care and of our educational system; "The economic and human deterioration incident to industrial strife."

"The effect of huge and mounting taxes upon competitive enterprises; "An unbalanced national budget that is begotten out of group pressures, log-rolling and political compromise."

"Inflation, born of the unbalanced budget, that nullifies every income gain of worker and farmer and reduces to the vanishing point his slowly accumulated savings."

Ways Must Be Found
The general said ways also must be found "to protect the nation against insidious and even traitorous corruption in responsible places."

But such means, he said, should "neither endanger nor reduce our civil rights."

Unless constant progress is made toward solving these and other national problems, Gen. Eisenhower said, "the whole order of things as we know it will pass, and those who come after you will live in a world we of today would never recognize—or accept."

He added, however, that this nation's freedom and encouragement of individual initiative had given it "an international stature" (Continued on Page 13, Col. 5)

Boy Is Victim Drowns at Goshen
Goshen, N. Y., June 8 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy drowned in a new outdoor swimming pool at the Silesian School for Boys yesterday—20 minutes after the pool was dedicated.

The boy, Leonard Chicon, of New York city, was to have graduated from the Roman Catholic school this morning.

The Rev. Father Joseph Caselli, director of the school, had just blessed the new pool and students had begun to take their first swim when young Chicon disappeared. The body was recovered.

Arms Plans In Germany In Disfavor

State Department Feels Acts Would Weaken Defenses; Army Has Other Thoughts

U. S. Reportedly Sends Anti-Tank Items to European Allies

Washington, June 8 (AP)—State Department officials were reported convinced today that any effort now to rearm Western Germany would weaken rather than strengthen the defenses of the west against Russia.

To this conviction is mainly attributed Secretary of State Acheson's firm reassertion yesterday of American policy that Germany must be kept disarmed, despite official word that from the military point of view its rearmament in the west would be a good thing.

Acheson's position in foreign policy matters is decisive, under the President's authority. Hence, it is apparent that any thought of direct action by the United States at this time to form a West German army is out of the question.

However, it also appears that the issue has brought about a clash of political and military views, and is likely to remain a lively controversy inside the government for months.

Would Strengthen Defenses
Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a House committee Tuesday that he believes "the defenses of Western Europe would be strengthened by including Germany or such part of it."

He said in an interview that he understood the delay in pressing for a peace settlement for Japan has been "largely caused by the failure of the military authorities to agree on what they want with regard to bases."

"Since the advent of atomic weapons and the possibility of atomic warfare," Taft added, "I am told that Okinawa (American island base south of the main Japanese island) is not sufficient because it is too vulnerable to attack."

The committee also is eyeing the gambling situation in the St. Louis area, where state police raided a bookmaker's headquarters Monday. Police were reported to have found confidential files indicating big wagers were being handled through Western Union office managers.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said the files also showed that Western Union managers were offered a 25 per cent cut in bookie (Continued on Page 13, Col. 3)

Underworld Ring Seen Preying Upon Misery of 50,000

Narcotics Bureau Reports Are Studied; Force Seen Too Small for Situation

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Senate investigators studied reports today that a powerful underworld ring is reaping riches from the misery of at least 50,000 drug addicts.

The reports came from Commissioner H. J. Anslinger of the U. S. Narcotics Bureau. Anslinger's force of 175 agents, some senators say, is too small to cope with the situation.

Anslinger gave his estimate of the number of narcotics addicts to the special committee investigating crime and gambling.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told reporters the number represents those who buy narcotics illegally—that is, from sources outside the medical world.

Anslinger has given the Senate group a list of 800 persons who, he says, form a criminal ring dealing in narcotics, crime and even murder.

In All Sizeable Cities
Kefauver said it is obvious that the narcotics traffic extends to every city of any size in the United States.

The committee also is eyeing the gambling situation in the St. Louis area, where state police raided a bookmaker's headquarters Monday. Police were reported to have found confidential files indicating big wagers were being handled through Western Union office managers.

Civilians Replace Recalled Russians In East Germany

Major General Kotikov, 58, Is Best Known of Those Removed; Strength Is Sought

Berlin, June 8 (AP)—Russia today named civilians to replace four military rulers in East Germany in a move apparently designed to bolster the prestige of the Communist East German state.

The changes accelerated the switch from military to civilian control in the Russian zone and were accompanied by indications that new responsibilities were being delegated to the area's Communist-controlled German government.

Allied observers believed, however, the changes did not mean that Moscow was loosening its grip on East Germany but rather was pulling the Kremlin-created state closer toward early partnership as a full-fledged satellite in the Soviet bloc.

The best known of the four military men recalled to Moscow was Maj. Gen. Alexander G. Kotikov, 58-year-old former Red commandant of Berlin and representative of the Soviet Control Commission in Berlin since the establishment of the East German government last November.

It was Kotikov's frequent use of the veto power which wrecked co-ordinated four-power rule of the city. He was replaced by Sergei Alexievitch Dengin.

Negotiations Planned
Evidence of his government's new powers, East German Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl announced today his cabinet planned direct and extensive political-economic negotiations with Soviet bloc nations, similar to those it concluded with Poland.

Grotewohl specifically mentioned Hungary and Czechoslovakia. He said also the negotiators who went to Warsaw would be sent to negotiate with the Chinese Communist government.

The Warsaw negotiations resulted in the confirmation by the Polish and East German governments of the Oder and Neisse rivers as the postwar boundary between the two countries, ceding to Poland large and rich East German territories.

West Germans termed a "treasonable sell-out." The western powers reiterated that the Oder-Neisse boundary set up by the Potsdam agreement was only temporary and could only be finally fixed in a peace treaty with Germany.

Gives No Information
The Soviet-controlled press gave no information about Dengin or the three other new officials. The Red Army newspaper here, however, pointedly called each "minister," indicating they were foreign ministry appointees rather than military men.

Recalled with Kotikov were Maj. Gen. W. M. Scharov, chief representative of the Soviet Control Commission in the State of (Continued on Page 13, Col. 2)

Doctors, Ambulance, Police at Scene 4 Minutes After Crackup; Men Lift Pickup Truck From Michael Mahoney and One Laborer

How Garagemen, Farm Workers, Passersby, State Police and Other Officials Worked Like a Team to Care for the Injured and Restore Normal Traffic When a Three-Vehicle Collision Killed Two and Injured Eight or More Other Persons in Front of the Anderson Chevrolet Sales Garage in Accord Wednesday Evening Was Related by Howard Anderson, Owner of the Garage and a Former Sheriff of Ulster County.

"Before the dust settled," Anderson said, one of his men was on the telephone, placing calls one after the other. He called the Humiliation Ambulance Service of Kerhonkson, Doctors William Galeota and Edmund Gellert of Kerhonkson, and the state police.

At the same time, half a dozen other garagemen and five or six workers from a farm a few hundred yards away ran to the aid of the injured, who were lying "all over the highway." A group of men picked up the Mahoney pickup truck and lifted it off Michael Mahoney and one laborer, who were pinned underneath, Anderson said.

Four Ambulances on Scene
Within the space of four minutes, the doctors and two Humiliation ambulances arrived from Kerhonkson. Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, who came with one of the ambulances and the doctors saw the two ambulances would be inadequate, and Chipp immediately placed calls for aid to the Pulling ambulance in Ellenville and the Corner Ambulance Service in Kingston. They each sent an ambulance, making a total of four on the scene.

"You don't realize how much traffic passes on 209 until something like this happens," Anderson said.

As traffic was beginning to "pile up" and impede the ambulances, state troopers from Lake Katrine cleared a path through the Anderson garage yard and routed traffic around the scene of the accident.

Openshaw Youth Seized in Hoboken

Hoboken, N. J., June 8 (AP)—The bullet that killed 70-year-old Martin Openshaw as he sat on a park bench came from a gun found in the possession of his 16-year-old son, police said last night.

The boy, Stanley Openshaw, was arrested yesterday on a Hoboken street corner. His mother, Mrs. Anna Kaufman Openshaw, was arrested later at the women's division of the Y.M.C.A.

Police quoted the boy's distraught mother as saying she had been in the park when the shots were fired, and saw her son running shortly after a quarrel between him and his father. She ran after the boy but couldn't catch him, she said.

A former mental hospital patient, Stanley was to be arraigned today on charges of being a delinquent adolescent and of possessing a dangerous weapon. He will then be turned over to New York authorities. His mother is being held as a material witness.

Police said a .32 caliber pistol fell from Openshaw's pocket as he climbed into the patrol wagon. Lt. Arthur Mantola, head of the Hoboken Detective Bureau, said New York police made a ballistics test and reported that the pistol was the same that killed the boy's aged father.

Police said Mrs. Openshaw told them her son had threatened her. "Why should I give him up? I would be dead. I would be shot. I didn't know what to do," officers quoted her.

New York police had been searching for the boy since his father, an importer of office machines, was killed Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Openshaw had been separated and their son committed to Brooklyn State Hospital in October, 1948. He was released nine months later at his father's request.

Storm Dumps Snow On Montana Sections

(By The Associated Press)

A June snowstorm hit Montana today, dumping more than four inches of snow over some areas. Temperatures were below freezing and in 30's over much of the state in the early morning.

Snow also fell in parts of Wyoming as masses of cold air from the Pacific and Canada rolled into the Rocky mountain region. The cool air moved into the northern plains and the mercury tumbled in parts of the Dakotas as much as 40 degrees.

Falls of more than four inches of snow were reported at Helena, and Great Falls, Mont. At Billings the fall was reported "moderate," with visibility at zero. Falls also were reported at Butte, Miles City, Cut Bank and over the higher elevations in the western part of the state. Rain fell in many areas.

The central and eastern parts of the nation had a hot spell and mid-summer temperatures were forecast again today. The hot weather yesterday also was in eastern Colorado and New Mexico and extreme western Texas. Highest reading yesterday was 107 at Presidio, Tex.

The cool air from the northern Rockies was expected to extend over much of the north central region by tomorrow, moderating as it moves eastward.

Wall Street Plot Goes for $1,292,500

New York, June 8 (AP)—A 10,000-square-foot plot of land in the Wall Street district was auctioned yesterday for $1,292,500.

A part of the world's third tallest office building, the 66-story "Sixty Wall Tower," stands on the T-shaped tract and pays $58,000 a year rent to whomever owns the land.

When a 31-story addition to the tower was built, it became necessary to lease the plot—which adjoins the original tower property.

The auction was attended by 81 men and two women who gathered in the blue-and-ivory music room of the Hotel Biltmore.

The sale was made by the New York Trust Company in behalf of the Cortlandt P. Bishop estate. High bidder was the law firm of Denov, Callahan and Morris, who acted for an unidentified client.

The auctioneer was Daniel J. McElveney, Jr., vice president of Joseph P. Day, Inc.

PARENTAL SUPERVISION NEEDED

From coast to coast the kids are running wild. It's high sport for youngsters to beat up innocent people, to shoot and even kill each other in well-generated gang wars, to fill city streets with terror and violence.

In his series called "Teens on the Rampage," Richard Kleiner of N.E.A. has performed a useful, timely service by spelling out the mechanics of these gang activities and setting down the chief remedies proposed by law enforcement officials.

From the remedies offered, certain definite ideas emerge. Youngsters need companionship and organized, disciplined group activity in healthful surroundings. Delinquency can spring up when any of the elements basic to normal growth is missing.

That crowded city slums are breeders of crime is accepted by the experts. Dirty tenements and endless stretches of cheerless pavement don't encourage the rounded life for urban youth.

But you can't put all the blame on the slums. Many a poor lad has licked his bad environment and gone on to success in his chosen field. Plenty of youngsters grow to adulthood in a mean setting without running amok.

Modern city family life frequently is much at fault. Good parental discipline is no longer a common commodity. Parents may be preoccupied with grubbing a living, or perhaps merely with enjoying themselves. Whatever the reason, they're indifferent to their children's normal needs.

Some psychologists see the city family set-up as wholly artificial from the youngster's standpoint. Living too often in cramped apartment quarters, the parents put the damper on a child's natural impulses toward noisy play, adventure, excitement.

Movies and radio, welcomed by parents as outlets for youthful enthusiasm, unfortunately tend to warp those impulses into unhealthy channels. Most experts agree that movie-radio emphasis on crime is doing grave damage to impressionable minds.

Better housing, real play space, green grass are obviously desirable substitutes for dismal slums. Where slum clearance is a remote goal, churches, schools and school yards, community centers and fraternal halls should be made available to kids for a wide range of organized activities.

The parents have a double responsibility in this problem. They must face up to their basic task of disciplining their children wisely and continuously. Outside activities need the touch of parental supervision.

But perhaps even more important, parents have got to make a real place for their children in the crowded city home of today. Shooting them off to the movies or onto the streets is shirking their duty. At sacrifice to themselves, mothers and fathers have got to find as many home outlets as possible for their youngsters' normal urges. Home is not much of a child's world right now; it ought to be a better one.

IDEAS OF JEFFERSON

Thomas Jefferson had a narrow escape. If he had lived 125 years later, he would have been endangered by his letter to Dr. Benjamin Rush, written in 1800, in which he said, "I have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man".

This is good doctrine to recall in times when there is so much pressure to dictate what men shall say, what they shall think, how they shall vote and with whom they may associate. Jefferson, denouncing such notions, would have been immediately suspect. Nor would his critics have been made less suspicious if they bore in mind his famous plea for a revolution every twenty years, to prevent governments from getting control of the citizens.

JAIL FOR SPEEDERS

In Detroit these days, excessive speed is likely to land the offending driver in jail for five or ten days. Traffic Judge John D. Watts, who initiated the jail sentence policy in May, gives it major credit for cutting traffic deaths almost in half and greatly reducing the number of accidents. It stands to reason that a driver who knows that he may go to jail if caught, and not escape with a mere fine, will be less ready to speed. It also stands to reason that if there is less speeding accidents will be fewer and less likely to be fatal.

Making a mistake is bad enough, but sometimes there isn't anyone around to whom to shift the blame.

What goes up must come down, 'tis said. Prices, please take note.

THE RULE OF SEARCH

Robert M. Hitchcock's testimony before the Tydings Committee must stimulate wonder as to what were the purposes of Francis Biddle, who was attorney general when the "Amerasia" case began, and why Mr. Hitchcock and his associates acted as they did.

Let us grant, for the sake of the argument, that a spy can go to the state and other departments and steal 1,700 documents, some of the most secret nature, and that nothing can be done about it if the agents of the O.S.S. and the F.B.I. entered the premises where the documents were found without a search warrant.

Yet, this question arises: The O.S.S. raid occurred on March 11, 1945. Maybe no court case could be made out of that because Frank B. Bielecki did not have a search warrant. However, the Bielecki seizures are not among the 1,700 documents we are now talking about. Those were seized by the F.B.I. in June.

Why was it not possible for the Department of Justice to get a search warrant between March and June? What held up due process of law in an espionage case for three months?

Let us go further. Mr. Hitchcock testified: "The F.B.I. in connection with the arrest of Jaffe and Kate Mitchell at the Amerasia offices, had seized several hundred papers, many of which were clearly the property of one or more government agencies, most of them of the State Department. Many others of the seized papers later were clearly established to be copies of similar records. The bulk of them were classified, as, for example, restricted, confidential, secret, etc."

Maybe those documents could not be used against Jaffe and Kate Mitchell, but they did involve others, among them Roth, Service and Larson. Certainly, once the Department of Justice saw the documents, these others were involved. They could be held under the law for information gained in this manner.

Similarly Hitchcock said: "In (Mark) Gay's apartment, when he was arrested, the F.B.I. seized 60 items, of which 22 were Federal Communications Commission reports or copies pertaining to interrogation of Japanese prisoners. About 20 were typewritten copies of State Department papers, and 18 were correspondence papers which were wholly personal. Copies of some of the items found in Gay's apartment were found in the Amerasia offices. When Gay was arrested, he made a statement that he knew some of the material seized was not generally available to the public."

"I said he intended using it for background and no other reason. When I was asked where he got it, he said that in some instance he did not recall, and that in others, as a reputable newspaperman he could not disclose the sources."

That, of course, raises a very curious issue. We, of the press, hate to disclose confidences, although many of us have learned to refuse to receive confidences from certain types of politicians as involving participation in matters a gentleman should avoid.

However, can a newspaperman hold to the position in time of war that he has a right to be the recipient of files stolen or taken, whichever he chooses, from the government without personal responsibility for their possession? Gay finally admitted that he received the F.C.C. reports from the New York office of the O.W.I.; that George Edward Taylor and Elizabeth Downing (Barker by marriage) gave them to him.

One of the major difficulties with Hitchcock's testimony is that the documents he testified about do not describe accurately the 1,700 now in the possession of the Tydings Committee, some of which were disclosed by Senator Hickenlooper to Bert Andrews of the New York Herald Tribune. Did Hitchcock, as the prosecuting attorney, read the 1,700 documents or did he accept the word of Service, Jaffe, Gay, Mitchell and Roth concerning them? As these documents are being published, the discrepancy between their actual character and the attempt of Mr. Hitchcock to minimize them is startling.

According to Mr. Hitchcock, Kate Mitchell, when she was arrested, said "that she knew the source of some documents" but refused to divulge it. Lay the blame on her and the grand jury that it was her understanding that Jaffe obtained them from Larson.

Mr. Hitchcock could have made a case had he pursued it. The question of public concern is: Why was the case not pursued?

A NEW TREATMENT FOR VARICOSE ULCERS

One of the most stubborn conditions frequently found in middle-aged and elderly men and women is varicose ulcer. In order to bring about a cure the patient is supposed to keep off his feet as much as possible. He is allowed on his feet only for short periods, and then with feet, ankles and lower part of leg snugly bandaged. A successful method of treatment is the removal or injection of the varicose vein adjoining the ulcer.

In former days it was not unusual to find the bed in the home of many hospitals occupied by many of these cases for months at a time. By removal of varicose veins and strapping or bandaging at frequent intervals, many were sent home, only to return a few weeks or months later.

It is gratifying to learn that a new treatment of varicose ulcers is reported in "Michigan State Medical Society Journal," by Drs. L. Green and A. A. Klein, who state that in their opinion surgery plays an important part in the development of varicose ulcers. Some of these substances are foods, feathers, pollen, fur. They describe the case of a patient who had a large varicose ulcer with severe skin irritation (caused by drugs) surrounding the ulcer. The ulcer had been present for two months and had been treated with many types of local treatment. She was given Pyribenzamine in doses of 50 mg. four times daily and advised to discontinue all local treatment. Pain and skin irritation disappeared rapidly and at the end of five weeks the ulcer was completely cured. This same treatment was used in 8 other cases and cures was obtained in 7 patients while 2 are still under treatment. Pyribenzamine was given in 200 to 500 mg. daily.

While the number (11) is not large still it is a dramatic result in cases of varicose ulcer. Drs. Green and Klein feel that the method of treatment is so simple that it should at least be given a trial before or with other treatment.

ing the number of accidents. It stands to reason that a driver who knows that he may go to jail if caught, and not escape with a mere fine, will be less ready to speed. It also stands to reason that if there is less speeding accidents will be fewer and less likely to be fatal.

Making a mistake is bad enough, but sometimes there isn't anyone around to whom to shift the blame.

What goes up must come down, 'tis said. Prices, please take note.

Do You Remember

I received another batch of old photographs, of local scenes from Mrs. William Longyear of 95 John street, which were taken by her late husband. There are two fine ones of the covered bridges in Kingston, one being of the famous Peirce bridge. Who knows something about the history of these two bridges, and why they covered them in those days?

Who remembers or rather who can ever forget the mammoth circus parades which used to go through the uptown and downtown streets of Kingston? I remember one with 40 elephants. We always judged the size of a circus by the number of elephants in the parade. Mr. Longyear got a good shot of one of these elephant parades from the Kingston City Library. I notice the World War I table was up, but the Victory Arch was gone, and according to the styles it must have been around 1920.

How many can remember when Evelyn Nesbit's name appeared in electric lights on the canopy of the Keeney's Theatre on Wall street now Broad? I wonder, was Evelyn Nesbit here in person at the time? McBride's drug store was downstairs and I think had a door opening into the theatre lobby. McBride's truck was outside. One can just see corner of St. John's Church next door, which was later moved, stone by stone, to Albany avenue. Cohen's Clothing store sign is seen also. S. B. Thing & Co. as well as Rose, Gorman Rose awning. I also see "Carl's" over the R.G.R. awning. All these names are now gone from Wall street.

Another Wall street scene is a large photo of two of Longyear Stages, of Woodstock, N. Y., standing in front of Nekos. The open kind of trucks with some four open benches like our summer trolley cars. Both stages are full of interesting people who no doubt would recognize themselves and perhaps remember the date. L. B. Van Wageningen Co. had a big sign on same side as Nekos advertising "carpeted houses, furnishings, dry goods and millinery." G. A. Hart was next door. Between Nekos Brothers and L. B. Van Wageningen, the awning reads "Men's Shop." Who ran that shop? The brick pavement and car tracks can be seen.

But the oldest photo seems to be of John and Fair streets before the Stuyvesant Hotel was built. Bill Longyear snapped it with two important derby hatted gentlemen on the corner, and another important individual in a chauffeured open car of the era. "Steiner's Bargain Store" was right on the corner where the Stuyvesant Hotel is today. On the Fair street side was the famous diner without water. E. Winter's Piano store sign can be seen next to the diner. On the John street side is an awning reading in part "Harry E" or "R" with an advertising standard with a of mammoth eye-glasses. Perhaps it was Harry R. LeFever. Next to it is an old stone house, but the firm name cannot be made out. These buildings are gone, but the building next to that on John street reading "Spencer's Business School established 1899" is still standing. According to my records, Ulster County Hotel Corp. which built the Stuyvesant filed their papers in Albany on May 27th, 1909. So the picture is more than 40 years old. All these photos are sharp and clear as though taken yesterday.

Asks Community Programs

New York, June 8 (AP)—Community programs assuring children priority over adults for dental care would be more beneficial for the nation's dental health than the proposed compulsory health insurance, Dr. Philip E. Adams, of Boston, says. Dr. Adams, president of the American Dental Association, addressed the 82nd annual meeting of the New York State Dental Society yesterday. "We recognize that the federal government has a legitimate role in the field of health," he said, "but this does not mean that it should be permitted to impose an impractical system upon either the public or members of the health profession."

Plans Are Approved

New York, June 8 (AP)—The City Planning Commission approved plans yesterday for a federally-aided low rent public housing project known as the South Jamaica Houses Extension, comprising the area bounded by South Street, 160th street, Beinkerhoff avenue, 158th street and the easterly boundary of the site of South Jamaica Houses. The cost of the project is estimated at $8,000,000.

CONNELLY

Connolly, June 8—At a regular meeting of the Haverbrook Engine Company No. 1 it was voted to parade at Poughkeepsie in the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's convention, Saturday, June 24. Transportation will be provided. All firemen are urged to participate. Contact is to be made with the fire chief not later than June 17 so that all details can be arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newell and daughter of Kingston were callers on Mr. and Mrs. John Shultis on Tuesday evening.

Dear Editor—In reading an old etiquette book that belonged to my grandmother, I can across this paragraph—Be careful when promenading with a lady not to step on her skirt! Now in the world could a man possibly step on a lady's skirt nowadays? I am flattered.

Amos Yes, old Godeau is a dumb chuck, all right, but no wonder. Look at his parents. Jake—What's the matter with his old folks?

Amos—Well, the dear wife to them that their son had 16 cuts, and in the next mail Godeau got a roll of gauze and a can of adhesive tape.

A newly-formed club in England meets semi-weekly. On Tuesday the members listen to American jokes and on Saturday they meet to enjoy a hearty laugh.

Small Willie was getting acquainted with his grandmother who had come on a visit.

Willie—Are you really my grandma?

Grandmother Yes, Willie, I am your grandma on your father's side.

Willie—Well, then you're on the wrong side. You'll find that out if you stay here very long.

Luke—Good evening, worthy Diogenes, why the lantern?

Mike—Oh I never trust these Greek women in the dark.

Optimist—One who thinks humanists will some day run out of definitions of an optimist.

A new tailor in town used as a trade mark the picture of a large red apple. Curiosity got the better of the village grocer and he asked the tailor why.

Tailor—Well I'd like to know where the clothing business would be today if it hadn't been for an apple.

Smith entered a big store and made his way to the gardening department.

Smith—I want three lawn-mowers.

The assistant stared hard at him.

Assistant—Three, sir? You must have a very big estate.

Smith (cuddling)—Nothing of the kind I have two neighbors.

It was approaching midnight and the young man still hovered

SHOKAN

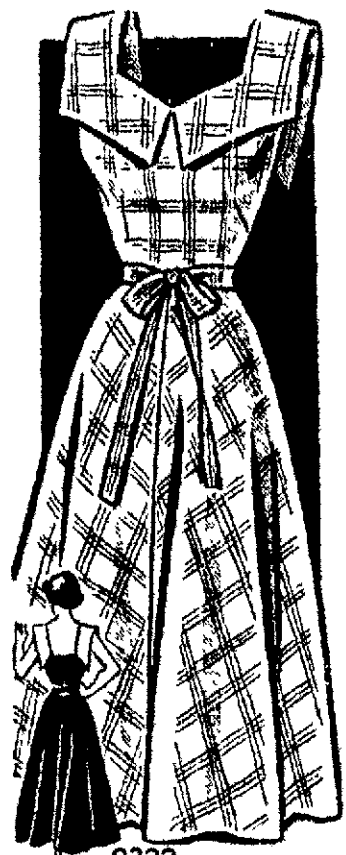

Shokan, June 7.—William Loos and friend of Inwood, L. I., spent Monday and Tuesday at the Loos summer bungalow along the Ridge Road "Bill" reports that his wife, Catherine, and three daughters expect to come to Shokan for the season soon after school closes in the city.

Elder Arnold Bellows, pastor of the Olive and Bailey O.S. Baptist Church here, recently addressed the congregations of several Baptist churches in Canada. Elder Bellows on May 20 also preached at a gathering of Old School Baptists in New York. Elder Amasa Slawson, Kingston preacher who holds forth in the local meetinghouse upon occasion, recently conducted a meeting of the sect in New York.

Ed. Flinn, Broadway businessman, was numbered among the Kingston people calling in the hub of the television country Tuesday morning.

Who among the readers recall the circumstances whereby the new schoolhouse at Boiceville was located at its present site instead of on the west side of the Esopus creek as in pre-warwaterworks years? The northwest Ohio district had received an award of $1,350 for its school property from the city, and west side residents were keen for having the proposed building in their section of the district. Aircraft Carrier in the Cafe

London (AP) The British aircraft carrier Campania, veteran of savage convoy battles on the wartime northern routes to Russia, will become a floating exhibition for the Festival of Britain in 1951. Painted white and sporting an open-air cafe on her flight deck, the 16,000-tonner will start a tour of Britain's coast ports, in April, 1951.

HOME ECONOMISTS REVEAL SOME SECRETS OF SUCCESSFUL CANNING

No doubt you judge the success of your canning efforts by the keeping quality of the foods you put up, but others rate your home-canned foods highly if they are attractive in color and garden-fresh in flavor.

Home economists say that one way to preserve color and flavor in home-canned foods is to use a salt that brings out full food flavor. IVORY SALT is known as the "salt that provides cooking insurance." Its crystals are uniform in size, and of the quality that 9 out of 10 recipes call for. Get best results when you can by selecting foods that fully, and by using IVORY SALT in your grocer's in the past year with the Ivory Elephant. Adv.

however, it was reported that the state commissioner of education had sustained the position taken by those voters favoring a schoolhouse located on the eastside of the Esopus. Who of those who took sides in the matter then dreamed that some 42 years later, a $1 1/2 million educational center would rise, a few hundred yards up the road from that little schoolhouse which had been the subject of such lively discussion.

Having a birthday June 8 is Lester Lawrence, Jr., elder son of Lester and Anna (Ogden) Lawrence of the east end of the village. The lad, formerly a pupil of the Ashokan school, is an M.J.M. student and an active member of Boy Scouts Troop No. 63.

"Elder West," allegedly phony O.E. Baptist preacher who visited Shokan early in the winter and was later apprehended for fleeing members of the sect in other sections of Ulster, had his day in court in South Carolina recently, and a sorry day it was for the man who was also known as Cortez, and to the F.B.I. as "Valiant Lopez." Eight years in the Federal Penitentiary was the punishment meted out for the pseudo elder's lapses from the straight and narrow, according to Delaware county papers (it is said he did not operate up there—where still reside many Old Schoolers—at all).

Kingston people calling in the village Monday night included Mr. and Mrs. Stirling Baker and son, John, of Prospect street. Bakes, a house-wrecker who razed the old Hoffmann Brewery and Sahler Sanitarium buildings, is a connoisseur and collector of old and rare books, and his wife is a student of, and well posted on, local history.

Priest Agrees He Will Take Part in Service at School

Somers, N. Y., June 8 (AP)—A Catholic priest has agreed to participate in the baccalaureate service to be held in Central High School here June 18, thus apparently ending a public controversy over the holding of the interfaith service.

The Right Rev. Edward V. Dargin, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Croton Falls, agreed yesterday to participate, after reading the revised program, a school official said.

Msgr. Dargin had questioned the legality of the service similar to ones held by the school for the past 12 years on the ground that Canon law forbids Catholics "to actively participate in the religious services of non-Catholics."

The State Commission of Education had ruled that the baccalaureate service as a "religious service" could not be held. But the school went ahead with plans anyway.

Webster W. Keele said that Msgr. Dargin came to the school yesterday and studied the revised program which included the 23rd psalm, to be read by a student in aid of a clergyman, and the singing of "America" and "America, the Beautiful!"

Keele said Msgr. Dargin later telephoned him from New York and authorized this statement: "The revised program as submitted is acceptable and I therefore agree to participate in this scholastic exercise."

Plans Mayflower Garden

London (AP) — A "Mayflower Garden" is being built on the bomb-blasted site of the old Pilgrim Fathers' church in Southwark, on the south bank of the Thames. The Pilgrim Fathers embarked from there in the Mayflower for Plymouth before sailing for America. Sponsors hope the garden will become a mecca for American visitors in Britain when it is ready in 1951.

Msgr. Dargin had questioned the legality of the service similar to

Times Have Changed

Coventry, Eng., June 8 (AP)—Times, Michael Quilly learned today, have changed since Lady Godiva rode around Coventry nine centuries ago clad only in her flowing hair. Quilly, a 32-year-old laborer, was fined two pounds ($3.60) for running through the streets yesterday in his birthday suit. "This sort of thing is all right in paradise," lectured Judge J. C. Gordon, "but you cannot do it in Coventry." Quilly said it must have been the 88-degree heat.

John R. Selman, Newark, N. J., was in town over the week-end.

Mrs. Freda Strongman Trainor has returned from Holyoke, Mass., where she received her Doctor's degree in physical education. She is on the staff of Vassar College.

The Mission Circle will hold its June meeting Wednesday afternoon, June 14, with Miss Eliza Raymond. In the absence of Mrs. Rathgeb, Mrs. Franklin Walker will preside and Miss Oscar Jelsma will provide the program.

Returns From Vacation

New York, June 8 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey returned to New York from a week's vacation in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., today and immediately went to Roosevelt Hospital for a checkup on his ailing right shoulder. He suffers from bursitis. The governor's secretary, James G. Hagerty, said Dewey would return to Albany tomorrow and that next week he would speak at Oswego and Watertown. Hagerty gave no indication when Dewey would meet with Republican leaders to make known his final decision on whether he will seek re-election. The meeting is not expected before next week.

Dental Officers Installed

New York, June 8 (AP)—Dr. Charles A. Fankow of Buffalo was installed today as president of the Dental Society of the State of New York at the concluding session of its 82nd annual meeting. Others taking office were Dr. Donald H. Miller, Elmira, president-elect; Dr. Willard S. Bell, Ozone Park, vice president; Dr. Charles A. Wilkie, Brooklyn, secretary; and Dr. George D. Greenwood, Rochester, treasurer.

Program Agreed Upon

Washington, June 8 (AP)—A $600,000,000 program of defense construction was agreed upon today by a Senate-House conference committee. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said the bulky measure should cover all army, navy, and air force projects needed during the next two years "unless there is some emergency."

Two-Year-Old Hiker

Chicago (AP)—Robert Hayes vanished from his back yard. Scores of kids and adults joined the hunt for him. They confined their search to the immediate neighborhood because they were certain a two year old boy wouldn't get very far. But Police Captain Walter Stokes decided to look further afield. He found little Bob hiking along a street a mile away. Bob's only comment: "Feet hurt."

FLORIDA, TAKE NOTE—

California and Florida, ever vying for honors in the big fruit and vegetable line, may have to bow to Chile when it comes to squash. This 93-pounder grown in fertile fields near Santiago is just an average size squash. Some grow to 125 pounds, and provide a family meal for 10 people for a week. Squash is a staple in many Chilean dishes.

The Koster are well-known here as the Rev. Mr. Koster came to Stone Ridge for his first pastorate following graduation from seminary and Mrs. Koster, the former Jean Bulken, came here as a bride. He served the High Falls Reformed Church at this time also.

Another interesting item taken from a Newport News daily announces the fact that Stanley Barrett Jr., was one of only two from a class of 200 to be singled for for special acclaim for his performance in the annual dance revue given by the Vassar Dance Studios there. This dance revue was called a "Calendary Revue" this year and received very favorable newspaper comments for the entire performance. Stanley Jr. is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Barrett of High Falls and the son of Stanley Barrett Sr., who is now employed at Langley Field Airport. Their daughter Julia Ann also took part.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 8 (AP)—Keen demand for top-quality stocks gave the entire market a lift today.

Some of the blue-chips sold at their best prices in one to 21 years with gains running above two points.

Advances elsewhere were limited mainly to a point or less but there were several striking exceptions, notably in the radio-television department. Selected rails did better than average.

Business was done in fits and starts. Turnover tended to expand when demand sharpened and to slow down when buying was less insistent.

General Motors, slipped slightly yesterday following a sensational rise of 7 1/2 points on Tuesday, moved up fractionally.

Bidding was particularly urgent for such shares as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone, Santa Fe, and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Others marked up included Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Grumman Aircraft, Sealed Air, International Telephone, American Cyanamid, Allied Chemical, Dow Chemical, Du Pont, Philip Morris, Union Pacific, Sinclair Oil, General Electric, and Seaboard Air Line.

In the bond market utility issues with the privilege of conversion into common stock were again popular. U. S. Governments held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Up in the curb were National Brewing, Niagara Hudson Power, Pancoast Oil, Pantepec Oil, United Light, Venezuelan Petroleum, Canadian Marconi, Cities Service, Cossden Petroleum, Electric Bond & Share, Fairchild Engine, and Louisiana Land.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Keen Interest Is Shown in Spring Horse Show Event

Woodstock, June 7.—The fourth annual Spring Horse Show being sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., Sunday, June 25, at the club's Ohayo Mountain ring, is expected to be one of the most colorful and interesting sports events yet witnessed in this area. This is accounted for by the fact that so far as is known, it will be the first to be licensed in Ulster county by the American Horse Show Association, and will be of national importance.

Many of those who are likely to compete, judging from information already received, indicates that top flight horses and riders will be on hand in an effort to add to their points already gained and to be gained toward competition in the national show next fall in Madison Square Garden.

During the past several months members of the local organization have been working and planning for this huge undertaking and it was learned at a meeting of committee heads held Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. George M. Hard, co-chairman of the show, that every one of the necessary but innumerable details are well under control.

Mrs. Samuel J. Adams, secretary, Saugerites, told those present that entry blanks have already been mailed to more than 500 persons. The entries will close on June 14, but Mrs. Adams stated that blanks were still available and anyone interested in obtaining them may do so by getting in touch with her. The list as compiled includes well known owners and riders in many states. She said that locating sufficient stabling facilities near the ring was somewhat of a problem.

At this point Virgil Van Wageningen, president and Brian Van de Bogart, in charge of securing such stabling facilities, reported on their findings. They have arranged with several barn owners to stable horses but are anxious for additional facilities and will be glad to hear from anyone having suitable stables preferably within a five mile radius of the Ohayo Mountain ring.

The timing of the 24 classes scheduled was given a good deal of consideration because of the long distances many of the entrants will have to travel, and the particular classes such riders might be expected to enter. It was decided after some discussion to open the show with the Woodstock Riding Club class which is open to any member of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc. riding a horse owned by a member of the club. This class will be divided into two divisions, Western and English, and will be judged on type and style of horse for comfortable riding.

An important factor in running a successful show is that of having well qualified judges. In this regard Mrs. Hard and Leon H. Smith, co-chairmen, expressed their gratification in having obtained such well known recognized judges as John A. Beach, a judge of Western, Jumpers, Equitation, and Stock Seat and who has been given a special license to judge the Palomino class, Frank Carroll, Judge of Western and Equitation, and Roger A. Young, Saddle Horse.

Joseph Beach, chairman of the entry committee, stated among other things that the Palomino Association of New York state has shown tremendous interest in the Palomino class which he believes will be a large one.

Samuel J. Adams, show treasurer, and in charge of the property committee, commented that members who have been untiring in their efforts to guarantee an unusually large and interesting program.

Others present at the meeting and who reported on the activities of their individual committees were Mrs. Alvin Doremus, Griffin Herneck, Dr. Paul Perlman and Mrs. Leon H. Smith, who announced the donations of certain trophies for special classes. Among them is a handsome silver bowl by Mrs. Richard O. Gruver, well-known craftsman whose work is exhibited at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen. This will be awarded in the Local Bridle Path Hack Class. Mrs. Herbert Cutler, steward, also attended the meeting.

Enlan Van de Bogart, chairman, grounds committee, reported on the special work being done on the ring prior to the big event and after some discussion with regard to painting which might be required there, everyone present volunteered to be on the property late Thursday afternoon to give the ring itself a new coat of paint. Each member will bring his own brush and paint and Van de Bogart will supply the whitewash.

The next meeting of the various committees will be announced.

Art League Instructors Open New Exhibition

Woodstock, June 7.—A representative exhibition of paintings by the instructors for the summer season opened Monday at the gallery of the Art Students League. Several of John Taylor's familiar landscape scenes have been included. "Promontory," the tragic Christ above a stream beach, "The Ramparts No. 2," which won the American Water Color Society Gold Medal of Honor in 1949, and departing from the beach theme somewhat, a luminous structure with brilliant accents.

In the section devoted to Sigmund Menkes work are vibrant still life and several figures. "Girl with Sunflower" a study in muted greens and yellows, "Boy at Play" a portrait of a young lad with a pyramid of brilliant balls in green, yellow and red.

Frank J. Rolly, new to the League summer school this year, offers three of his superb illustra-

There will be a short business meeting and an auction to be held after the meeting. The committee for the auction is Mrs. Hermina Kutzschbach, Miss Neva Shultz and Mrs. Mary Rapp. Meetings of the group will resume in September.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 7.—Mrs. Willam Harn will leave June 16 for Muncie, Ind., to attend the wedding of her nephew, Edward Zuelzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rander are planning to stay at the Byrdcliffe home for the summer.

Miss Gertrude Thompson will entertain her sister at her Byrdcliffe home this summer.

Mrs. William Y. Boyd has purchased one of the paintings by John Carlson, "Broad Acres," now on exhibition at the Town House.

Mrs. Shirlard Smith of Clearwater, Fla., is staying at the Town House with her secretary, Charles Yel Clear, and her companion, Mrs. Dallas W. Young, also of Clearwater.

Scouts Plan Hike

Woodstock, June 7.—The Cub Scouts are planning a hike and picnic June 16 to mark the final pack meeting for the summer.

They will meet at 10 a. m. on the village green with lunches, fishing tackle, baseball gloves and paraphernalia. Parents of the boys may join the picnic at noon, which will be held in Bearsville along the creek near the old saw mill off Yerry Hill Road.

Miss Anita Smith of Stony Brook, Woodstock, well-known lecturer on gardens, gave an interesting talk on the construction and planting of stone walls. Mrs. Van Ness expressed the desire to enlarge the membership to foster the projects and suggestions of her predecessor and the members of the club. Tea was served and the co-hostesses were Mrs. Fred Mower, Mrs. Lewis Wilson and Mrs. Richard Thibaut.

Barber Shop Opening

Woodstock, June 7.—The Woodstock Barber Shop will open June 15 under the proprietorship of Albert Klippel. Klippel has had two years barber experience in the U. S. Navy, and is a former graduate of the Queens Beauty Institute, Long Island. He is well-known to most Woodstockers through his association the past 15 months with his brother, William, owner of Klippel's Electric, The Woodstock Barber Shop, which is located in the Simmons Building, next to Hilda Lightstone's Dress Shop.

The show will be at the gallery for the remainder of the month.

Folly Cove Plan Display of Fabrics

Woodstock, June 7.—Frances Dederick of the Parnassus Square studios, Woodstock, has announced that there will be an exhibit of Folly Cove Fabrics in the front gallery from June 12 through June 25. In conjunction with the exhibit, she also will have an exhibition of the works of a group of Woodstock artists in the large gallery.

The Folly Cove designers of Gloucester, Mass., Miss Dederick explains, have taken their place and made their name stand for inherent craftsmanship, individuality of work, integrity and design. The group, composed of 25 men and women, mostly residents of Cape Ann, operates in a manner similar to the Medieval Guilds. Each member works in his own home or studio, meeting as a group once a month for criticism and exchange of ideas. Though members conform to the general principles of design, each individual is encouraged to develop and express his own personality.

Most of the subject material in the designs is taken from nature or the contemporary life of Cape Ann. Each designer's treatment is completely individual, providing a great variety of pattern. Each designer not only creates his own design, but he himself carries it through the process of cutting, sewing, mixing the colors, and printing the block on material.

In order to keep a high standard of design and execution all work submitted must satisfy a jury elected from the more experienced members of the group.

Critic Praises New Nathaniel Weyl Book

Woodstock, June 7.—"Treason: The Story of Disloyalty and Betrayal in American History" by Nathaniel Weyl, of Woodstock, was reviewed in the New York Herald Tribune Book Review, Sunday. The book was reviewed by Henry Commager, professor of history at Columbia University, and the author of many books on American history. After a resume of the book, Commager wrote:

"This book might have been a sort of chamber of horrors, but it is no such thing. Thanks to the good sense and sound historical judgment of Mr. Weyl, it is reassuring rather than frightening. It suggests that more harm than good may come of a revival of the old common-law concepts of treason or the application of new techniques of thought control. It reminds us that much in the past that seemed like treason to some was in fact the most devout patriotism. It makes clear that the best safeguard against disloyalty is not a barricade of laws but a happy and prosperous people. It inspires confidence in the good sense and the sense of justice of Americans. It assures us that notwithstanding numerous examples of treason and disloyalty the nation has survived and flourished."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their false teeth are loose or wobble at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just use a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-aoid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not stain, chafe, or irritate. (Gentle on breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Arkville Couple Held on Charges of Leaving Children

Clyde Robbins, 38, of Arkville and his wife, Vida, 36, were arrested today by State Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenix on charges of disorderly conduct following abandonment of their five children last evening. Clyde was fined $10, which he paid, and his wife, Vida, was given 10 days in the county jail by Justice Ray C. Smith. Robbins agreed to care for the five children, who range in ages from 6 to 12.

Trooper Dunn was called last evening about 10 o'clock to the Lynch diner at Shandaken where the five children had been abandoned.

According to the story as learned by Trooper Dunn, Mrs. Robbins was out with a man yesterday. Her husband learned she had come to Ulster county and he loaded all five children in his car and started out in pursuit. At the diner he observed the car and stopped. When he attempted to meet his wife, she took refuge in the ladies room. Trooper Dunn said. One of the children was sent in to get her mother.

At this point, Trooper Dunn reported, the father unloaded the five children from his car and left for home, telling the wife to care for the children. Instead she left the scene and the five children were brought to the Volunteers of America shelter here by Trooper Dunn where they were cared for during the night. Welfare Officer Fred Cleveland of the town of Shandaken was notified and the welfare department of Delaware county was set in motion.

About midnight the father returned to the scene to learn whether the mother had taken care of the children and was charged with disorderly conduct, after being informed the children were being taken care of at the shelter. Mrs. Robbins was also arrested on the same charge.

The matter of abandonment of the children will be heard later in Children's Court.

Eden Wins Decree

and Bermuda, was not represented at the hearing. She did not contest the action.

A decree nisi becomes absolute in six weeks under British divorce law, unless there is an objection raised in court.

Eden, who wore a dark blue suit, was the only witness at the hearing.

Letters Are Produced

Letters from Mrs. Eden were produced in court, but not read. The former foreign secretary refused to comment as he strode quickly from the courtroom after the verdict was announced.

Gossip over the Edens' domestic split has been common in London for many months. But friends of the deputy Conservative leader speculated that he would avoid divorce because of the probable effect on his political career. As the recognized deputy of Winston Churchill, Eden was in line for eventual leadership of the Conservative party—and the post of prime minister when and if the Tories regain power.

Some observers predicted that his five-minute appearance in divorce court today virtually ended any chances he might have had of ever becoming prime minister.

Unsurmountable Barrier

They recalled that the stamp of divorce, regardless of cause, was practically an unsurmountable barrier to leadership in the British government. No person who has been a party to a divorce suit—severely frowned upon by the Church of England—has ever been prime minister.

Other observers said, however, that Eden's status in Conservative politics might break that unwritten law of British political and social life.

Churchill Yesterday Made His Plainest Reference to Eden as His Successor

Speaking before a meeting of women Conservatives, the former prime minister said Eden would "carry on the torch of conservatism with ability and vigor." Eden has not let it fail.

Acheson told his news conference yesterday that Bradley was discussing a theoretical question and had made it quite clear that he was not advocating German rearmament. While Acheson thus stated the technical situation it is common knowledge that many of the top military leaders regard Germany as a potentially valuable source of military strength for the west.

On the other side of the Iron Curtain the Russians evidently have the same thing in mind. They have formed a well-armed East German "police force" which the western powers have bluntly called a military organization. State Department officials, however, take the position that the defense of the west rests primarily not on the number of men and guns that can be mustered but on the political cooperation and single-minded determination of the western powers to act together in all matters involving their security against the Soviet Union.

Weapons Are Sent

Washington, June 8 (AP)—The United States reportedly is shipping some of its best anti-tank weapons to the European Allies which might be in the path of massive Soviet armored forces in a future war.

Defense officials said the weapons—bound mostly for France under the Arms Aid Program—include bazookas, rocket launchers, and powerful recoilless rifles which are said in the secret stage.

At the same time, the U. S. Army is pressing a long-range program aimed at countering the threat of Russia's potent armored forces by the "development" and limited production of a family of tanks superior to those of any possible future enemy.

Two Puerto Ricans

Ricans, were identified by Coroner Chipp as follows:

Riminito Solivio, No. 140, injured but returned to camp.

Marin C. Pizquez, No. 141, taken to the Benedictine Hospital. Condition "fair."

Antonio R. Rodriguez, No. 142, Kingston Hospital. Condition "poor."

Tesfio Rios, No. 143, returned to camp, but later taken to Benedictine Hospital. Condition "fair."

Patricio Villanueva, No. 144, Kingston Hospital. Condition "apparently good."

Ruman Perez, No. 147, Benedictine Hospital. Condition "fair."

Teopoldo Santiago, No. 148, Benedictine Hospital. Condition "fair."

Modesto Diaz, No. 149, Kingston Hospital. Condition "poor."

Troopers Investigate

The accident was investigated by Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper Heywood Rasmussen of the B.C.I. and Trooper R. J. Nicodemus of the Lake Katrine sub-station, New York state police.

According to the troopers' account, the ten Puerto Ricans were riding back to their camp in a pickup truck operated by Mahoney. They were traveling south on Route 209 and were passing the Anderson Garage, less than a mile and a quarter from the camp, when the accident occurred.

A 1939 coupe operated by Mildred Goetheus, 67, of 8812 172nd street, Jamaica, N. Y., came out of the Anderson garage property and made a left turn to travel north on 209, according to the troopers' report. The coupe failed to straighten up and continued to the left to strike the left rear fender of the pickup truck, troopers said.

The pickup truck then veered to its left and smashed almost head-on into a trailer truck owned by the Wise Potato Chip Company of Berwick, Pa., and driven by Donald Love, 29, of 1001 Susquehanna avenue, Berwick.

The laborers were thrown from the truck and were scattered over the highway.

Trailer Truck Ditched

The trailer truck driver ditched his truck in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the crash, and the truck was badly damaged, troopers said. The pickup truck was also wrecked.

The 10 Puerto Ricans were part of a group of 20 who had been assigned to the Chandler Young farm in Napanoch, Coroner Chipp said. Wednesday, however, Young only had work for 10 of them, and sent the other 10 to the Mahoney farm, where they worked for the day.

They were being driven back to the camp, which is operated by the Ulster Vegetable Growers Co-op, when the accident occurred. The camp houses about 100 laborers at present. It was at its height during World War 2, when approximately 500 laborers stayed there and worked on Ulster county farms.

The accident is under investigation by state police, Coroner Chipp and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn. No arrests have been made yet. Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly reported this morning. Coroner Chipp has withheld a verdict on the cause of death of the two laborers pending an autopsy scheduled for today.

Cerebral Palsy Campaign

Treatment of cerebral palsy is costly because it requires a team of trained workers—medical specialists, therapists, speech teachers and educators. Contributions should be sent to Oscar J. Latsch, State of New York National Bank, Kingston, N. Y.

Court of Appeals Upholds Verdict For State Trooper

A $19,750 verdict awarded Thomas Russell, a probationary member of the New York State Police who was injured on November 8, 1947, when he suffered an electric shock from a broken power line while on duty in the Burden Lake-Arville Park area, has been upheld by the Court of Appeals.

The verdict was awarded Russell in March 1949 at a trial held in Catskill before Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth. That verdict was set aside by Justice Elsworth on the theory the plaintiff had been guilty of contributory negligence. The verdict was reinstated when an appeal was taken to the Appellate Division by plaintiff. Then the matter was taken to the Court of Appeals by the defendants, the New York State Electric & Gas Corporation, and the Court of Appeals sustained the Appellate Division and sustained the verdict for plaintiff.

Russell, a probationary officer, was on duty at the scene of the accident when an electric light line carrying some 4,600 volts had broken. A car belonging to Frank Haight, Jr., had become entangled with the wire, the driver alighted with his motor running. Russell touched the fender of the car and received no shock but when he took hold of the handle of the door to open it and shut off the motor he was knocked unconscious.

N. Joseph Friedman of Catskill represented Russell.

The power company was represented by Ainsworth and Sullivan of Albany.

The verdict was set aside by the trial court on the theory Russell had been guilty of contributory negligence when he attempted to turn off the motor in the car.

In reversing the lower court the Appellate Division held that as a police officer Russell was charged with the duty of assisting and protecting the public and that in the conduct of that duty he could not be concerned with his own safety and would reasonably incur risk that a private citizen should not incur. As to the negligence as a matter of law, the Appellate Division disagreed with the lower court and held the electric company had been negligent. The court pointed out that the company had two courses of action open, one, to repair the break without delay or second, to shut off the power. The court held that the company did neither and within an hour the plaintiff was injured.

The Appellate Division in an opinion held the question of whether the company had acted with "reasonable dispatch" to repair the line without turning off the power, or failed to exercise reasonable care to break the current, were under all circumstances questions of fact for the jury.

Filthy Weed Dogs Sandy

Waiteria, Calif. (AP)—Sandy's not particular. He'll smoke any brand. And he doesn't care whether he gets his smoke via pipe, cigar or cigarette. Sandy, a chubby, blond cocker spaniel, though only two years old, inhales, too. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winter's pet doesn't actually puff a pipe, of course. He's a sniffer. The Winters first noticed it several months ago when Sandy began lapping away at the smoke from Charles' cigar. Since then, they say, the animal has become practically a tobacco addict and likes nothing better than to sniff quietly in a corner of a smoke-filled room.

Forrestal Advice

in the hotly-disputed Amerasia case.

Vardaman emphatically denied it to a reporter last night.

Testimony Is Taken

McInerney's testimony was taken by the committee last month at a series of sessions behind closed doors.

An informant said McInerney first told the committee he seemed to recall that Forrestal had asked the Justice Department to delay the arrest of the six persons accused. They were taken into custody by the F.B.I. in June 1945.

Later this informant said, McInerney testified that he had located a note from Justice Department files which indicated that Forrestal did make such a request.

McInerney reportedly was unable to supply a reason for the request. One of the six persons arrested in the case was Andrew Roth, at that time a lieutenant in naval intelligence.

The inquiry committee is known to have received reports that the navy felt the arrest should be delayed pending further investigation as to whether anyone in the Navy Department other than Roth figured in the case.

Baltimore Sun's Story

The Baltimore Sun, in a story from its Washington bureau, said today it has information that Forrestal's reported action may have stemmed from a desire to avoid friction with Russia about this country's trusteeship rights over islands seized from Japan.

It said Forrestal reportedly suggested delaying the Amerasia arrests until after the United Nations conference then going on in San Francisco.

All six of those arrested in the case were charged with conspiracy to obtain illegal possession of government documents. Charges against four—including Roth—were dropped. Two of those arrested were fined.

Vardaman, who was naval aide to President Truman when the Amerasia case broke five years ago, now is a member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors.

He will be questioned behind closed doors tomorrow by a Senate foreign relations subcommittee which is making a new investigation of the Amerasia episode.

Decided Upon Call

An authoritative informant said the group decided to call Vardaman on the basis of secret testimony by Brig. Gen. Julius Holmes, who in 1945 was an assistant secretary of state. At present he is United States minister to London.

Holmes is understood to have told the committee yesterday his best recollection is that Vardaman sought to stall prosecution in the Amerasia case.

In denying Holmes' reported testimony, Vardaman said: "I had just come back to this country from the initial assault on Okinawa when the Amerasia case first broke. I'd never heard of the case, and I never discussed it with anyone at the White House or anywhere else.

"I didn't know a thing about it. Mine was a purely administrative job of running the war map room in the White House."

He Was Going Up

Philadelphia, June 8 (AP)—A gentleman obviously not too far removed from the British Isle approached the elevator in a downtown department store the other day. "Are you ascending or descending?" he asked. The elevator operator looked non-plussed, then—apparently deciding to ignore the issue—stuck his head out of the door and called: "Going up."

NEW TASTE TREAT: BRATENBURGERS

BRATENBURGERS are a tasty variation of the familiar hamburger, prepared in austrorussian sauce.

By GAYNOR MADON
NEA Staff Writer

A variation on the familiar hamburger theme is always new. Bratenburgers—they are new. Nothing more complicated than hamburgers cooked in a sauerbraten sauce of spices and vinegar, guaranteed to pick up languid weather appetites. Here's the brand new tested recipe:

Bratenburgers
(6 servings)
Three slices dry bread, 1/4 cup hot water, 1 pound hamburger, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon butter or fortified margarine, 1/2 cup cider vinegar, 1 1/2 cups water, 12 cloves, 6 bay leaves, 8 gingersnaps (coarsely crumbled).

Break up bread and soften with 1/2 cup hot water. Add meat, onion, egg and salt; mix well. Shape into 6 patties and brown on both sides in hot fat. Mix together remaining ingredients; pour over patties. Cover and simmer about one hour.

Personally, I like them with mashed potatoes and a big bowl of garden salad—tomatoes, cucumbers, two or three different kinds of greens—all tossed with a good French dressing.

Here's a recipe for French dressing many of our friends enjoy. We ourselves don't like sugar in our dressing but a lot of people do.

French Dressing (Basic)
Makes 1/2 cup
One-half cup salad oil, 1/4 cup cider vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon scraped onion with juice. Combine all ingredients and shake or beat until thoroughly combined. Chill. Shake again each time before using. Note: Add a clove of garlic or a liberal sprinkling of garlic salt for even better flavor.

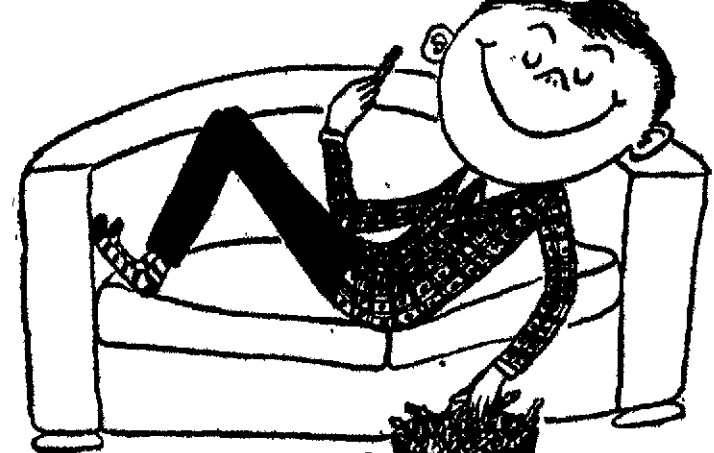

TOMORROW'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Orange juice (fresh, canned or frozen), French toast, syrup, crisp bacon, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Scalloped flaked fish with fluting of mashed potatoes, thin dry toast, raw carrot sticks and radishes, blackberries, oatmeal cookies, tea, milk.
DINNER: Bratenburgers, mashed potatoes, corn on cob, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, cucumber, tomato and greens salad, French dressing, strawberry gelatin, coffee, milk.

Planes Are New Worry
New York, June 8 (AP)—The bankrupt Long Island Railroad had a new worry on its hands today—jet planes. The Grumman Aircraft Corp. wants to pay for relocating a Long Island crossing at South Oyster Bay so it can extend its aircraft runway 1,200 feet. The Long Island opposed the plan yesterday "because of the extreme danger of a collision between a plane and a passing train." It's up to the State Public Service Commission to decide.

Chicago (AP)—A robber who

Today's Business Mirror

SAM DAWSON
 York, June 7 (AP)—Steel pouring out the gray never before. Customers are complaining of shortages, even more. They are paying premiums for some steel products. The steel industry is nervous about orders.

Johnstown, Pa., increasing raw steel capacity there by nearly 15 per cent.
 Private industry's overall expansion plans would mean that between the end of the war and the end of 1952 the United States would have increased its steel-making capacity by 11 million tons a year. By comparison, that additional capacity would equal more steel than either France or Germany made last year, and just about half what Russia made in 1949. It would bring total U. S. capacity to nearly 104 million tons.

Fear Gray Market

Nervousness as to the public reaction to stories of steel shortages and to fears that the gray market in steel will become widespread again also is shown in an "Iron Age" editorial.

"The current steel tightness is not due to lack of steel capacity. It is due to a loss of 29 million tons of steel because of coal and steel strikes since the end of the war. If that delayed demand had been filled at the proper time the industry today would not be operating at more than 100 per cent of capacity."

The American Iron and Steel Institute reports some shifting in the order of steel-making capacity among the states. Michigan has moved from eighth to seventh place; California from tenth to ninth.

The 13 states making gains last year, in the order of capacity added, are: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, California, New York, Minnesota, Texas, Maryland, Utah, West Virginia, Washington, Indiana and Kentucky.

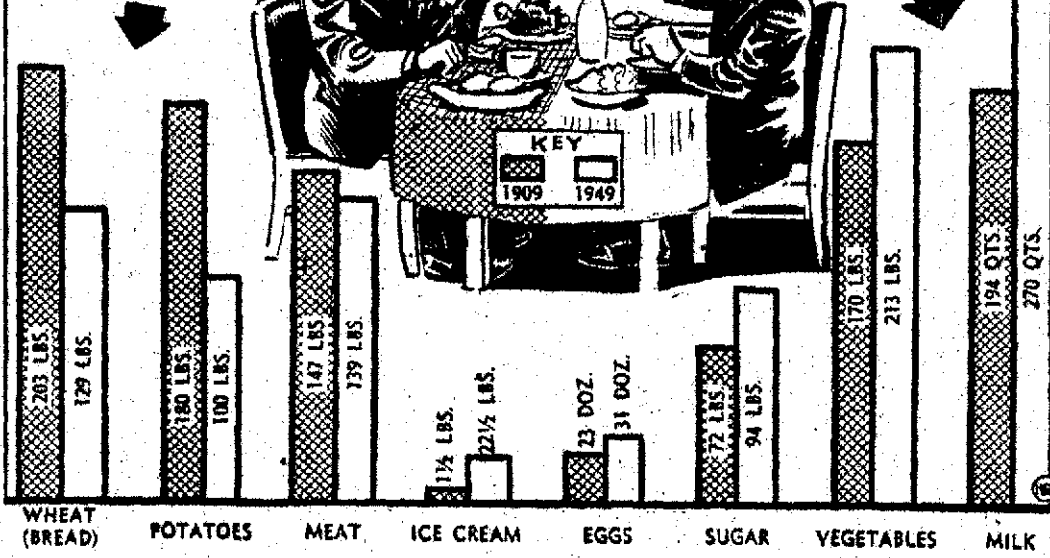

The top ranking 10 states, in order of capacity, are: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Maryland, New York, Michigan, Alabama, California and West Virginia.

Higher Than 100 Million Tons
 The institute also notes that for CHEER gives you the cleanest possible wash with "no rinse" and "no water" needed! Just wash, wring out and hang up to dry! . . . But if you time, CHEER's your best bet for a cleaner wash than you'll get with any soap—any other type of washing product.

So good you get a dazzling-white wash with NO BLEACHING! NO BLUING!

Without bleaching, without bluing — CHEER washes white things clean as fresh snow, colored things bright as new paint. Yet CHEER is kind to hands, safe for washable colors.

So good you get a film-free wash even in HARDEST WATER!

CHEER suds come up thick and fast in water so hard the best soap known plays out. Leaves no sticky scum—but removes the cloudy film left on clothes by soap. NO WATER SOFTENER NEEDED!

So good you get a whistle-clean wash even WHEN HOT WATER RUNS LOW!

The hotter the water, the better the wash. But when the hot water runs low, CHEER suds stand up and go on fighting dirt. Whatever the temperature, CHEER will give you a cleaner wash than any soap, at the same temperature!

Youth to Be Quizzed In Millville Slaying

Millville, N. J., June 8 (AP)—Police investigating the strangling of 17-year-old Lorraine Hess today waited for Connecticut police to turn a youth over to them for questioning.

Bridgeport, Conn., police arrested Theodore H. Carter, 18, yesterday on the request of Millville authorities.

David Reid, Millville public safety director, said the boy had been missing from Millville since May 15, two days after the high school girl's body was found with the belt of her coat around her neck.

He said it was not yet known whether Carter was even acquainted with the slain girl, but that he would be questioned nevertheless. The boy had worked at odd jobs here and lived at 210 Oak street.

Lt. Julius Westphalen of the state police said only that Carter was wanted as a "runaway."

Bridgeport police said Carter was found at the Christian Union, a shelter for transients where he had been living since May 29.

Canada has more than 2000 factories which are branches of industries in the United States.

Paris Has Horn Trouble

Paris (AP)—Prefect of Police Roger Leonard has promised a deputation of municipal councilors that he will see what can be done about reducing the noise of motor-horns in Paris. A suggestion that use of horns might be banned entirely was rejected on the ground that it would show traffic and make the congestion worse. Two hundred and sixty-eight Paris motorists have been fined for "abusive" use of motor-horns during the past three months but visitors notice relief from the usual clamor. Beer is the oldest known alcoholic drink in the world.

Registration Is Argued

New York, June 8 (AP)—The proposal for a permanent registration system in New York state was argued yesterday at a hearing of the State Republican Election Law Committee. Supporters of the plan claimed it would give Republicans more opportunity to register. Opponents contended it would cost too much. Arguments for adoption were led by Manhattan City Councilman Stanley Isaac and Mrs. William J. Kelley, of Scarsdale. The opposition was led by New York City Commissioner of Elections David B. Costuma.

Beef Gains Most
In Meat Increases;
Poultry Is Same

(By The Associated Press)

Retail meat prices climbed a little higher this week in most markets, with beef gaining the most and the least.

The more popular warm-weather cuts of beef, like sirloin steak, advanced two to six cents a pound from last week-end in competitive chain stores. Pork items most in demand, like loin chops, were up about the same amount in some places but held unchanged in many areas.

At the wholesale level, most meat prices leveled off about mid-week and some even tipped downward.

"Normally we'd expect this easier tendency to show up sooner because the uptrend has been going on for weeks now," a spokesman for a large New York store chain said. "But people still are buying lots of meat and if price resistance is developing we haven't seen much sign of it."

Poultry Prices Unchanged

Poultry prices were generally unchanged from last week-end, but top grade eggs edged upward one to three cents a pound in many stores. Dairy products held steady.

Fresh fruits and vegetables were nearly all lower—particularly lettuce and spinach which were reported in oversupply. Marked down also were asparagus, snap beans, lima, broccoli, cabbage, cantaloupes and honeyball melons, cauliflower, cucumbers, eggplant, radishes, rhubarb, squash and strawberries.

The first raspberries of the season to be shipped from California as far east as the Atlantic seaboard arrived this week. Dewberries from North Carolina also started arriving in distant markets.

First Peaches Arrive
The season's first peaches showed up in northern markets this week, too, from the Carolinas and Georgia. They were reported larger than usual for early peaches, but abnormally high-priced because of the short crop. Unfavorable weather sharply reduced this summer's prospective peach supply.

A little higher-priced this week in most produce departments were fresh corn, celery and tomatoes.

At Dade City, Florida, the Pasco Packing Co. announced a wholesale price cut in grapefruit juice concentrate which the company said should permit the frozen juice to retail at around two cents for 28 cents—or about half the present price. The company said it hoped the lower prices would create enough demand to take care of a new grapefruit crop at expects to reach 60,000,000 boxes compared with the current season's estimated 36,000,000.

New Things Predicted

Revolutionary new processing and packaging developments in the food field were predicted in Chicago by Nathan Cummings, chairman of Consolidated Grocers Corp. and a National Association of Wholesale Grocers Association meeting that trials of packing foods in foil tubes were well advanced.

"Our customers soon may be squeezing peanut butter, jelly and the like out of tubes instead of digging them out of jars," he said.

Cummings also said scientists recently demonstrated that surprisingly good keeping qualities could be imparted to some foods by subjecting them to bombardment by electrons with a cyclotron. He called this "atomic canning," and said it was at the pilot-plant stage.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index advanced six cents from a week ago to $5.00—highest since Jan. 18, 1949, and 4.7 per cent above a year ago. The index represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 general use foods.

Phone Contract
Signed for 5,000

New York, June 8 (AP)—A one-year contract agreement covering 5,000 New York city area employees of the New York Telephone Company was reached early today, a union spokesman said.

The spokesman said the agreement was worked out by representatives of the company and the Union of Telephone Workers (Ind.).

The new pact contains no general wage increase and no raising of the maximum pay scale, he said.

He added, however, that adjustment increases ranging from $1 to $3 weekly were to be granted, as of last June 4, to 43 per cent of the employees having 2½ years or more of service but not now receiving top pay.

An additional 18 per cent of the workers covered by the new contract, he said, would benefit from it. He did not elaborate.

H. T. Fenwick, U.T.W. president, said the agreement also called for shortening of wage progression schedules from eight to six and a half years and the insertion of a seniority clause affecting promotions.

Church Education Stressed by Synod

Christian higher education is the most important matter before the United Lutheran Synod of New York meeting in three-day session at Trinity Lutheran Church here.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick R. Knudsen made this assertion at yesterday's session as he urged all congregations to meet their quotas that will go to make up the $750,000 needed to carry on the project.

Stressing that $625,000 has already been raised, the Rev. Dr. Knudsen declared, "This is the most important matter before our convention. I am eager that no congregation miss the blessing of this effort."

The reference was clearly to the 108 congregations of the synod that have not reported anything done up to the time of the convention.

Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston, the Rev. David Galse, pastor, has reported its quota 100 per cent raised. The other Lutheran churches in the synod, St. Paul's, the Rev. E. W. Gietz, pastor, and Trinity Lutheran Church, the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor, are comfortably beyond the 50 per cent mark.

Primary Indicates Tough Going for Roosevelt in Fall

San Francisco, June 8 (AP)—James Roosevelt gets his chance in November to fight for the governorship of California against the third term bid of Earl Warren. But figures of Tuesday's primary indicate a tough job ahead for F.D.R.'s eldest son.

Returns still dribbling in confirmed Roosevelt's never-challenged grasp on the Democratic nomination. His two-party vote, however, lagged far behind the huge total for Republican Warren, the assured G.O.P. nominee.

Primary candidates may cross-file for both party nominations in California. Warren was the choice of the Democratic as well as Republican voters in the 1946 primary. He bucked the Roosevelt name and the preponderant Democratic registration in trying to do it again.

Roosevelt's running mate, State Senator George Miller, Jr., of Richmond, 37, went down to defeat. Republican Lt. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of Los Angeles captured both nominations. Knight, often at odds with Warren, campaigned independently.

In the November arena for the U. S. Senate seat of Democratic Sheridan Downey, a "100 percent" New Deal congresswoman, Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, will be pitted against Richard Nixon, a Republican congressman foe of President Truman.

The ballot count at the two-thirds mark gave Governor Warren a two-party total exceeding Democratic Roosevelt's by better than half a million. Roosevelt led on the Democratic ticket by 150,000.

Warren said in a statement yesterday.

"The returns are very slow in coming in, and it is perhaps too early to make any predictions, but on the basis of half of the vote it appears I am polling the largest vote I have ever received in a primary election."

"While it is now questionable whether the votes are distributed partywise so as to give me both nominations, they represent a tremendous and significant majority."

The latest figures showed: Governor, Republican, 12,773 of 18,022 precincts—Warren, 758,197; Roosevelt 83,197.

Governor, Democratic, 12,573 precincts—Roosevelt 655,028; Warren 507,865.

(Total both parties: Warren 1,285,862; Roosevelt 738,223).

In the 1946 primary Warren amassed a vote of 1,367,682 in winning both nominations—tantamount to election. He got 593,180 Democratic votes. The registration was then, as now, heavily Democratic. The 1950 voter sign-up for the primary included 2,862,083 Democrats, 1,826,350 Republicans.

Gene Autry, Oklahoma

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Government maps and papers henceforth will carry a little Oklahoma town near Ardmore as "Gene Autry, Okla."

The government's board of geographic names made it official today, giving the cowboy movie star's name to a community that has been known as Berwyn. The Post Office Department previously had taken similar action.

CHECKS RETURNS

Printers Walk Out

Meriden, Conn., June 8 (AP)—Printers at the plant of the Meriden Record-Journal, this city's morning and afternoon newspaper, walked out this morning in what Publisher Wayne C. Smith said was a strike without notice. Several of the strikers gathered in front of the plant immediately after the walkout. There was no disturbance and no picket line was established. Representatives of the union were not immediately available.

Three Are Missing

New York, June 8 (AP)—Two Brooklyn boys and a girl were missing today after their mothers learned the boys had been playing hooky. Police broadcast a citywide alarm. The children—William Demeter, 13, his sister, Joan, 10, and Lawrence Demeter, 10, all of 3814 15th avenue, Brooklyn—were not reported missing until today, though they hadn't been home since they left for school yesterday.

U. S. Airmen Bail Out of Plane; One Dead, Six Missing

London, June 8 (AP)—Two U. S. airmen who bailed out of a burning B-29 bomber were rescued today after swimming all night in chilly North Sea waters.

Ships and planes pressed the hunt today for six U. S. Air Force men still missing. Searchers last night picked up two other crewmen and the body of still another from the superlateness soon after it crashed off the Norfolk coast of southeast England with one engine in flames.

A calm sea and favorable weather raised hopes that the dozens of searching ships and planes would locate at least some of the six men still missing.

Headquarters of the U. S. Air Force's Third Air Division listed these survivors:

Capt. Henry J. Walsh, the plane's commander, of Alton, Ill.; Staff Sgt. Warren J. Ebert, Minneapolis, Minn.

Staff Sgt. Charles F. Allen, Derry, N. H.

A fourth crewman yet unidentified.

The headquarters did not reveal the identities of those still missing or of the dead airman.

The air force said the plane, abandoned when one of its four engines caught fire during training flight, was from the 74th reconnaissance squadron at Fairfield-Sussex air base, Sacramento, Calif. It was in Britain on a training mission.

Walsh and Ebert, in a rubber dinghy, were pulled from the sea almost immediately by the British trawler Warrior, which at the same time recovered the dead airman.

Allen and the fourth survivor were rescued early today by combined British-American search forces after the airman had floated for more than 13 hours in Mac West life jackets.

Allen's rescuers said he was "tired and hoarse" after his night float.

Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing, in outlining plans for the conference, told reporters he will invite about 1,200 persons.

Churchmen, labor leaders, and representatives from industry and many other walks of life will be urged to come—at their own expense.

Long-time pension advocates like Dr. Francis E. Townsend are on the list too.

COCKER CRAVES CHEW'N-GUM—Some dogs beg for food, but when Penny, nine-month-old Cocker pal of Gregory King of Cleveland, O., sits up and begs, she wants chewing gum. He's 'Hunger Artist'

Frankfurt, Germany, June 8 (AP)—Willy Schmitz is a 48-year-old German who would warm the heart of any boarding house cook.

Nobody has to set the table for Willy. He's been fasting for 43 days now in an effort to set a new world record for going without food.

All Willy gets are four bottles of soda water and a lot of cigarettes each day and he's as pleased as a man with a T-bono steak. Willy, who styles himself as a "hunger artist," is set up in a glass cage in the Frankfurt zoo.

He does his fasting under the sharp eyes of Red Cross nurses. A doctor visits him every day and makes a thorough physical examination weekly.

'Very Cordial,' He Says

Madrid, Spain, June 8 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco and the New York banker whose institution has loaned him $55,000,000 talked for an hour yesterday.

"Very cordial" was the only comment from Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, after his conversation with the Spanish chief of state. The Chase Bank, which already has made loans totaling $55,000,000 to Spain, would continue to cooperate in an effort to increase trade between the United States and Spain, Aldrich said. The banker is completing a two-month tour of Europe and the Middle East.

Draft Extension Asked

Washington, June 8 (AP)—A three-year extension of the peacetime draft act was recommended to the Senate today by its Armed Services Committee.

Morgan's Popular With City Burglars

Police were notified today that an apparent attempt had been made to enter Morgan's Restaurant on Cornell street Tuesday night.

A theft was reported at the restaurant recently, and the incident this week was believed to be another "attempt to enter" the place.

James Morgan, the proprietor, told a reporter that his grill had been robbed 14 times since 1928. Only one of the burglars was caught, he added, when he imbibed too freely from a bottle he stole, and couldn't make his way out of the neighborhood.

Regarding Tuesday's attempt to burglarize his place, the former local baseball star said, "They must like it here. If I knew they were coming I'd have baked a cake."

Police headquarters was also

Sympathizers Bid Farewell to Trumbo

Los Angeles, June 8 (AP)—Five hundred sign-waving sympathizers sang songs and listened to speeches on an airport taxiway last night in a 30-minute farewell demonstration for jail-bound Dalton Trumbo.

The screen writer took off for New York to join John Howard Lawson. The two members of the "Hollywood Ten" will fly to Washington tomorrow to begin jail terms Friday. They were convicted of contempt of Congress for refusing to

Trace Theft to Boy

An underage boy climbed through a second story window and stole $4 in silver from the Clarence Burger general store in West Shokan Tuesday night. Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly, Troopers Ray Dunn and Lt. Rasmussen traced the theft to the boy, who they said had been involved in another reported burglary about two weeks ago. The money was recovered, Sgt. Reilly reported. The boy is under 14 years of age and the case will be disposed of in Children's Court.

Election Is Scheduled

South, June 8 (AP)—Communists North Koreans, holding the May 30 election in South Korea, today called for a general election throughout North and South Korea in August. Radio Pyongyang mouthpiece of the northern Reds, voiced the announcement. It called for the election to be held in the United Nations, sponsored by the South and the Soviet-backed northern sector for eight days beginning August 5.

Two Youths Captured

New York, June 8 (AP)—Two 17-year-old youths were captured one after a patrolman shot him in the left thigh in a chase last night in the Bronx. The youths were recalled as a result of reports that prowlers were in the rear of the Schorsh Paper Products Company, 132nd street and Brown Place, the Bronx. Patrolmen Clifford Ledinger and Samuel Resnick surprised the youths, one on a ladder and the other nearby, police said.

Settlers Testify Before Grand Jury

New York, June 8 (AP)—Ten more "businessmen settlers" testified yesterday before a racketeering grand jury digging into the ramifications of bookmaker Frank Erickson's gambling empire. Names of the 10 were not disclosed and no statement was issued on the nature of their testimony. They were questioned by Assistant District Attorney Alfred

J. Scott of the Rackets Bureau and Assistant District Attorney James J. Fitzpatrick. The jury last week handed up a 60-count indictment against Erickson accusing him of bookmaking and conspiracy. It convicted on each count the admitted gambler could be sentenced to as much as 60 years in prison. Testifying before a Senate subcommittee last April, Erickson said that his bookmaking operations netted him $100,000 a year.

Stang Talks at Rotary Meeting

A more active participation by the electorate in the city, county and national government was urged by County Attorney Frederick H. Stang in a talk before the Rotary Club on Wednesday.

It is the responsibility of citizens, he said, to go to the polls and elect officials, who will administer government in the most efficient manner. Those who are privileged to vote and neglect to do so are not worthy of citizenship, he declared.

In reviewing the county government, the attorney pointed out the vast increases in recent years. Taxpayers pay the bill for the cost of government and should take a more active interest, he asserted.

Appropriations mentioned by the speaker in the brief time allotted included those of welfare, old age relief, home relief and hospitalization, health, law enforcement and highways.

An invitation was received to attend the dedication exercises of the statues installed in Academy Park. The program will be held Friday evening at 7:30.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks was welcomed back from his trip abroad.

The luncheon-meeting was largely attended, a large number present being visiting Rotarians, who were in attendance at the United Lutheran convention here.

Settlement Made In Lund Action

Settlement was reached in a negligence action brought by Henry Lund against Louis Misasi in County Court.

Plaintiff, residing at Sunset Park, sought to recover for damages to his car and also for personal injuries from Louis Misasi of East Kingston, as a result of an accident on Route 9W a mile north of Kingston in October, 1949. Hugh R. Elwyn appeared for plaintiff and Albert A. Adrich for defendant. A verdict of no cause was returned by the jury.

A jury was taken Wednesday in another negligence action involving property damages. Raymond Lane brought an action against Clarence Carter to recover for damages arising out of an accident at the junction of John Street and Route 28 in West Hurley. William E. Foley appeared for plaintiff and Albert A. Adrich for defendant. A verdict of no cause was returned by the jury. Court recessed until 10 o'clock today.

Grange News

Highland Celebrates
Highland Grange celebrated its 50th anniversary, Tuesday night, by burning its mortgage at ceremonies presided over by Supervisor John J. Gaffney. A covered dish supper preceded the program.

The program opened with a prayer by Mrs. Howard Mackey, chaplain. A new American flag was presented in honor of the anniversary, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, Earl Kisor, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shaw, and Master and Mrs. Albert Schreiber. Talks were given by Vernon Barnhart, Stone Ridge, deputy; Mrs. Gresham Stone Ridge, juvenile deputy; and Harold Storey, Ulster Park, past deputy. Mrs. Bell gave a history of the Grange. The Service and Hospitality committee, and Mrs. Bell, Albert Schreiber and Granville Kisor burned the mortgage. Past Masters, Granville Kisor, Earl Kisor, Albert Shaw and Howard Mackey were honored as well as members of years standing, Mr. and Mrs. Bell and Mr. G. Kisor.

The master of ceremonies presented the new officers to the guests as follows: Master, Mr. Schreiber; overseer, Jack Nacco; lecturer, Florence Rork; stoward, Catherine Angie; assistant, E. Kisor; chaplain, Mrs. Mackey; treasurer, Mrs. Virginia Bravata; secretary, Frances Valenti; gatekeeper, Chris Dohrman; Ceres, Lucy Craig; Pomona, Emma Terwilliger; Flora, Mrs. Albina Myers; lady assistant stoward, Fanny Angie; executive committee, Mr. Kisor, Mr. Shaw, Mr. Mackey; Service and Hospitality, Mrs. Hazel Schreiber, Mrs. Lillian Shaw, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Bridget Mackey.

THE WAY I SEE IT, MISTER—

"MY JOB is to take my passengers the shortest way. Well, it's the same with government. If they complicate things with red tape, we'll be slower getting to where we want to go. "So I'm for government efficiency. Why, I heard that if Congress okays those Hoover Report recommendations—we could save 3 billion dollars a year!"

RIGHT! This bipartisan report on government reorganization showed how streamlining could lessen our tax burden and strengthen the country. This subject is nonpolitical, above partisan considerations; it's our duty as citizens to inform ourselves thoroughly on it."

Swift Approval Expected

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Swift presidential approval is expected for a bill expanding by 91,000 the number of homeless Europeans who may seek a home in this country. The measure, an enlarged and liberalized version of the 1948-49 bill, was sent to the White House yesterday after the Senate approved it on a voice vote. It calls for the admission of 341,000 DPs to the United States including 153,000 who have entered under the old bill—by June 30 next year.

Women's Clubs Convention Hears Forecast Of Era of Rainmaking and Ocean Drinking

Mrs. William J. McVey, 195 Tremper avenue, who attended as a voting delegate from Kingston's Sorosis Club, said that to her perhaps the most "outstanding night of the convention was International Night, when delegates from 18 foreign lands addressed us."

The delegate from Korea, Mrs. P. William Lee expressed the hope that her country would be united with America and Korea is 4,288 years old, she said, and for the first time in its history, Korean women may now vote.

The delegate from the Philippines, Senora Trinidad Legarda, said that if Formosa falls, communism will be right next door to her homeland. Although an atmosphere of fear and uncertainty overspread the delegates, she said, the delegates said she believed that the Philippines could take care of their own affairs. "My countrymen are not Communists at heart," she said, "our constitution is thoroughly democratic. We like the American way of life — we fought for it — and the sacrifice of Bataan were not for communism."

Mrs. McVey said the convention had impressed upon her the fact that "a clubwoman is not a woman set apart, who thinks and acts differently from the rest of woman-kind. In hearing these women speak and meeting them, one could not help but be impressed by the fact that they are good homemakers, wives, mothers, grandmothers, churchwomen — thinking women, who have merely pushed aside the four walls of the home and taken in the four walls of the world."

Mrs. McVey said she had been greatly impressed by the fact that the Federation represents 11,000,000 women all over the world who have "pushed back the four walls of the home and taken in the four walls of the world."

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rhoads, alternate U. S. delegate to the U. N., was one of the speakers, and declared that there was a race on between the powers of education and the powers of destruction. On all sides there is propaganda, Mrs. Rhoads declared. She urged newspapers to agree upon a code so that Europe would not think crime was rampant in this country.

Regarding motion pictures, she said "I would like the world to know that a lot of us here are neither Hollywood glamor girls nor gangsters' molls."

Dr. Ernest A. Hoctor, anthropologist of Harvard University, introduced a controversial subject the same evening when he declared that over-breeding of the human race was a cause for war. Mrs. McVey said. He advocated fewer but better-cared-for children, and was promptly attacked the following day in the newspapers, one of which declared that "the learned professor advocates the virtual extermination of the human race and the 'breeding' of an entirely new race of 'supermen'."

Mrs. McVey said she had been greatly impressed by the fact that the Federation represents 11,000,000 women all over the world who have "pushed back the four walls of the home and taken in the four walls of the world."

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette" "Children Are People" etc.)

MAKING FRIENDS
A chairman of a School Committee writes: "Now that we're coming to the end of the school year, this committee is preparing a scrap book of our activities for the year. In this connection we'd like your help in the form of a message that we can include in the book."

It is my belief that: No human attribute is of greater value to each and everyone of us than courteous behavior. It makes friends of many and enemies of none.

Cards to Husbands?
Dear Mrs. Post: When I'm in Europe I'd like to send post cards to some of my office associates, most of them men, and some of them married. I don't know if an unmarried woman do you think I should send these to Mr. and M. even though I don't know the wives? I don't want to send them to the office as I'm not sending to all.

Answer: If you haven't even a telephone acquaintance with a wife, you could hardly include her on a post card; and although not improper, it would seem wiser not to send post cards to him either.

The Title Dr.
Dear Mrs. Post: Both my father and fiance are M.D.s. Should Dr. be engraved this way or in full on the wedding invitations? Why is Mr. never spelled out?

Answer: It is in best taste to spell Doctor out in full, but Mr. has never been spelled out. Why? I don't know. It is just the custom.

Men's Clothes in Summer
Dear Mrs. Post: Do men wear tails during the hot summer months or is it improper and the tuxedo the only evening suit worn? Is the opera hat proper with the tuxedo even in summer?

Twaalfskill Plans Dance Saturday

A buffet supper and dance will be held at the Twaalfskill Club house Saturday at 8 p. m., with members of the Golf Club asked to make reservations immediately.

At Ladies' Day Tuesday, 30 members were present. It was announced. The next Ladies' Day will be Tuesday of next week, with Mrs. Burton Haver and Mrs. Kenneth Wood as hostesses.

An auction is being planned and will be held at the club house Saturday, June 24, at 8 p. m. Members are asked to send articles to be auctioned to the club as soon as possible.

Answer: Except in certain Southern communities, tails are never worn in summer, nor is a top hat or opera hat ever seen. With a tuxedo a straw hat or a Homburg is equally correct.

Brilliant Costumes, Spirited Dancing Mark Cashin 'Revue'

Beneath a glittering birthday cake, scores of dancing pupils presented an elaborate review last night at the Broadway Theatre during showings of the feature picture, as a sort of super-vaudeville. They were well-trained, fast-stepping, and the costumes were really a dazzling eye-fest.

It was the "20th Anniversary Revue" of the Cashin School of Dancing, and it will be presented again tonight, at a little after 8 p. m.

The dances ranged from the "Johnson Rag"—a jazzy tap number—to "Fairyland Fantasy," featuring a ballerina, with Mexican, Spanish and comic dances thrown in for good measure. Tap dancing predominated.

The audience loved the "Baby Balletinas" best. A long row of little girls—tiny ones—with the fluffiest possible little pink ballet skirts. When the curtain rose on these pink-and-white adorables, the packed house to a woman groaned "Ah!" The babies squeaked out a little song, explaining that they had practiced every day, and really could get up on their toes, whereupon they illustrated. Whether staged or not, the baby ballerinas had one member whose shoe came loose (very cute) and three of them had a little fuss over their place in line. The audience was entranced.

Glitter
The costumes were very impressive, ranging from glittering chorus-line numbers as handsome as any that ever graced the stage of the big-time New York vaudeville stage, to cowgirl costumes complete with boots, red hats and pistols, to Chinese Eastern multi-colored to old-fashioned nightgowns and ball dresses.

Among the vocalists of the evening, Buddy Carpinelli stood out, with his secure stage presence and fine comic sense. The dancers seemed fairly equal in talents, with older girls presenting more elaborate routines, and novices doing very creditable jobs. The audience enjoyed the spirited, high-kicking Can Can number, and the baton twirlers were popular.

Natural Grace
In "Picnic Time," a semi-acrobatic dance, the girl who danced at the left of the stage (audience's left) struck your reporter as being the possessor of fine natural grace and elegance.

Vocalist Richard Bunling sang "Chattanooga Shoe Shine" with great assurance.

There were too many dances to mention separately, but each one had something different—miniature xylophones, bell-ringing pinwheels, pencils and slates. The show (although a bit too long) moved with clockwork precision, and one number would follow another on the stage without a pause. This, combined with the remarkable costumes (more than 30 sets of them), gave the show a professional air.—J.M.

Births

The city registrar today reported 80 births recorded during May. This was two less than in May, 1949, and 12 less than in April this year, and brings the total to June 1 this year to 445.

Births recorded recently were: May 28—Raymond Thomas to Mr. and Mrs. Martin James Hamblin, 65 Boulevard, and Frank Joseph to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joseph Ferraro, 21 Abel street.

May 30—Nathan Conrad to Mr. and Mrs. George Grainer, Hurley, and Patricia Anne to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bruce Taylor, Esopus avenue, town of Ulster.

May 31—Patricia Ann to Mr. and Mrs. John Vedder, 108 Hunter street.

June 1—Peter Nicholas to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Altomare, 252 East Union street; Jeffrey Lee to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Vredenburg, Bearsville, and Anita Marie to Mr. and Mrs. Jose Hernandez, 262 Linderman avenue.

June 2—Ellen Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Van Velkenburgh, Lanesville, and Karen Jean to Mr. and Mrs. Weston DeWitt, 64 South Manor avenue.

June 3—Laurie Evelyn to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Lyke, 220 1/2 Washington avenue, and Jo Ann to Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur, 41 East Strand.

June 4—Thomas Albert to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spert, Saugerties.

Exciting Array of Gifts Cater to Dad's Favorite Hobbies

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

So that every dad will enjoy his day on June 18, gifts to cater to his pet likes, hobbies or sports are racked up in pleasant profusion on store counters.

Cool and colorful new sports clothes are sensibly designed to keep him comfortable during the scorching days ahead. New beltless slacks, for example, have an ingenious zipper-adjusted waistband which can be let out or reefed in as needed for an easy fit. Slacks come in a range of neutral-toned colors from ice-cream white to darker beige and grays in gabardines or tropical worsteds.

The old stand-by T-shirt blow-ups out in new looser mesh-like weaves and in bold colors sometimes pointed up by contrasting stripes. Also aimed at cool con-fort are sports shirts in thin, handkerchief-weight cottons.

Terry cloth steps down from beach robes, cardigan jackets and sweaters to make matching socks that are absorbent, wash easily and won't shrink. If dad likes his sports tops bright, blazer stripes on these terry cloth tops will fill the bill.

Fitting leisure time companions for the pipe smoker are new pipes with interesting carved briar bowls. Skillful carvings include rugged animal heads, Indians, knights and friars.

New lure for the fisherman is a transparent live bait box. Tenite plastic in amber or green makes the tough nine-ounce box which can be hooked over a strap or belt. A perforated shelf is attached inside to the hinged lid. When the lid is raised, a live minnow is pulled up on the shelf out of the water in the lower half of the box.

Golfers can get in backyard practice with less risk to windows and innocent bystanders with the help of light plastic practice balls. Bakelite is molded in the shape of a regulation golf ball and punched with holes to make a feather-weight sphere. In practice shots, this ball travels the same hooked, sliced or straight path as a regulation ball—but is slow motion and travels only one-tenth as far.

If a camping trip is in prospect, a sturdy rechargeable spotlight will be an illuminating guide. One such spotlight works for 1000 hours before recharging is needed.

This one throws a powerful beam for a half mile, the makers claim. Recharging may be done from an auto cigar lighter or a house outlet.

The man who finds his summer recreation in his own home workshop is a candidate for such new gadgets as a soldering gun which is an inexpensive substitute for a blow-torch. The gun fires an alcohol flame. Small electric sander-polishers equipped with lamb's wool buffers and different grades of sandpaper are also calculated to speed up workshop projects.

Porter, Spozza Rap Homers as Colonials Drub Waterbury Timers, 9-4

Locals Remain 2 1/2 Behind Po'keepsie; Navratil Is Winner

With two big home runs by Harvey Porter and Joe Spozza accounting for five runs, the Colonials cemented their second place holdings with a convincing 9 to 4 victory over the Waterbury Timers Wednesday night at the Nutmeg state park before a sparse crowd of 207 fans.

The sudden burst of four-base power by Earl Galt's crew gave Frank Navratil a comfortable cushion as he coasted to the victory behind Kingston's 11-hit job on Dick Flynn who went the route for the Timers.

Kingston failed to gain any ground on the league-leading Poughkeepsie Chiefs, however, as the leaders ran their victory string to five in a row with a similar 9 to 4 conquest over the Bridgeport Bees. The Colonials are still two and a half lengths behind the Chiefs.

Gerard Leaves Game
The Kingston win last night may have been a costly one as a result of Chico Conrad's thigh injury when he caught one of Flynn's fast ball offerings in the first inning.

After Johnny Wallner opened the game with a first pitch bingle to left, Porter got the good wood on the ball and sent Flynn's second pitch of the game over the left field wall with Gerard at the plate. Flynn's third pitch of the night caught him on the thigh. Chico stayed in the game and went to first but after reaching second on a subsequent play, he was

RASCHI PICKED OFF SECOND BASE

Vic Raschi (center), New York Yankees pitcher, tries vainly to get back to second base safely as he is picked off by a throw from Detroit Tigers catcher Aaron Robinson to shortstop Johnny Lipon who puts the tag on the hurler in third inning of game at Yankee Stadium. Umpire is Bill McKinley. Yankees won, 5-4. Picture was made with the 60-inch telephoto lens from a centerfield position.

Major League Roundup

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cooling off the hot clubs is an old Yankee custom. Now it's sizzling Detroit that New York has dunked in chill water.

Red Rolfe's Tigers strode into the Yankee Stadium with seven straight wins and an .002 edge on first place. Unbeaten since they left home, the spirited Detroit club boasted a dazzling road record of 20-3, or 870.

This was it. The big test of the early season. If the red hot Tigers could roll over the Yankees and then knock off Boston, they would take charge of the race. They may do it yet, for it's a three-game series in New York. Yesterday's 5-4 loss to the Yanks was only the opener. But with Tommy Byrne, an old Tiger killer with a 10-2 lifetime record against Detroit, pitching for New York today, the chances are not bright.

Home run power from the bats of Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Billy Johnson swung the balance of power in a tight battle between lefty Hal Newhouser and Vic Raschi.

Each time the Tigers scrambled into a lead, a zinging Yankee home run would pull them back. Finally a single won the game. It was a ball hit by Yogi Berra to shortstop Johnny Lipon that handcuffed the Tiger infielder in the seventh.

Boxing Blast Brownies
While the Yanks and Tigers wrestled through the hottest afternoon of the New York season, Boston piled up a staggering 20-4 score against St. Louis.

Still very much in the race, the Red Sox blasted 23 hits off Brownie pitching while Joe Dobson rode home easily with his seventh win.

Little Bobby Shantz, 5-foot-7-inch Philadelphia left-hander, pitched the A's first shutout of the year, a 5-0 night victory over Chicago.

Washington snapped its seven-game losing streak, nipping Cleveland 5-4 on Johnny Ostrowski's eighth-inning homer following Irv Noren's single.

Brooklyn Take Lead
Once again Brooklyn took over undisputed possession of the National League lead, whipping Pittsburgh 9-0, while St. Louis took a bad 10-2 licking from Boston. Both were night games.

Don Newcombe, giant Dodger Negro ace, followed his recent five-hit conquest of St. Louis with a six-hit blanketing of the weary Pirates.

Rookie Bill Macdonald, only Pirate to win a game since May 23, was shelled out in a five-run eighth inning. Pittsburgh now has lost five in a row and 14 of its last 15.

Stan Musial joined the other St. Louis crimples during the loss to Boston's Warren Spahn. Stan suffered a cut between two fingers of his left hand, taking a throw

Claim Ray Robinson Offers No Problem

New York, June 8 (AP)—Middleweight King Jake LaMotta and former champion Rocky Graziano, who are working out at their respective camps for their June 28, 15-round title bout at the Polo Grounds, both say they could knock out Sugar Ray Robinson.

LaMotta has been instructed by the National Boxing Association to give the welterweight champion a chance at his middleweight crown within 90 days, if he beats Graziano. The same edict doubtless will apply to the Rock if he beats LaMotta.

Robinson is now recognized as middleweight champion by Pennsylvania as a result of his victory over Robe Villalain in Philadelphia Monday night.

LaMotta lost to Robinson in one of the five meetings they've had but said yesterday: "I'd like to fight him again, but in a 20-round bout. I'd knock him out for sure."

Graziano's aggressive words were: "I'll knock Robinson stiff. I'll take that cocky guy any time, in a gym, ring or an alley. I want to fight him more than any other guy. I'll take him on after LaMotta, win, lose or draw."

Crew Is a Problem
Princeton, N. J., June 8 (AP)—Shall I use the varsity or the junior varsity? That's the question that's been plaguing Dutch Schoch, Princeton crew coach, all spring. He's taking both teams to the big Marletta, Oregonia, which was moved from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., but still doesn't know what crew to boat on June 17.

Freeman Hanover Cops
Arcadia, Calif., June 8 (AP)—Freeman Hanover, grabbing an early lead, raced in to win the $1,250 Bakersfield trot by a length in yesterday's feature of the grand circuit harness racing at Anita Park. Lord Steward was second and Cooperate third in the field of five standardbreds.

Picked Wrong Steeds
Boston, June 8 (AP)—United States Treasury agents seized two thoroughbred race horses last night—and immediately drew a statement that they had picked the wrong steeds. The agents said they seized Memner and Duff to satisfy a claim against John Deveney, prominent Boston contractor. Deveney told a reporter that the horses weren't his, and that he didn't owe any income taxes. "There must be some mistake here," said Deveney. "They're not my horses."

Personeus Stars In Ashokan Win

Bob Personeus pitched and batted the Ashokan Indians to a 9-8 victory over the Colonial Merchants of the City Baseball League Sunday on the Ashokan diamond.

After the Merchants went ahead 8-6 with a four-run rally in the top of the ninth, Personeus singled home the winning and tying markers in the Ashokan half. Personeus gave up ten hits and fanned six and collected three of the 15 Indian safeties off Little, who struck out six. Five Indian players stroked two hits.

Provenzano led the Merchants with three hits. Bud Jackson's double for Ashokan was the lone extra base blow in the game.

Third Straight Complete Kingston Pitching Job

Joe Pecora furnished Coach Bill Burke with the third straight K.H.S. victory performance up in Saugerties Wednesday afternoon and as a result, the Maroon nine coasted to its third straight win. Kingston won by 11 to 2.

Ted Schwab started the parade of the top-flight pitching performances Monday with his 8 to 3 conquest of Newburgh in a seven inning stint. Jerry Bechtold went the route as Kingston romped over Beacon Tuesday by 15 to 7 and Pecora made it three in a row without a pitcher being called in from the bullpen with his triumph against Saugerties.

The Maroons take a day off today from actual competition but will return to action Friday afternoon at municipal stadium in a co-ed game against Middle-town High. Game time is 4:30 p. m.

The Burkemen gave Pecora a good edge right at the start of yesterday's skirmish with a pair of runs in the first and another in the second. Pecora protected the lead as the Maroons added two more in the fifth and sixth and led 7-0 before the home club finally hit pay dirt with a brace of markers in the bottom half of the sixth.

Kingston added four more in the seventh to win going away. Bud Scheffel led the eight-hit assault on Myers with two hits while Riehl, Ron Scheffel, Leonard Lyons and Pecora himself picked up one safety.

Pecora dished up five hits to the losers. Martin, shortstop for Saugerties, collected two of the five, one a double the only extra base count of the fray.

The Maroon defense backed up Pecora's superb hurling with two snappy double plays in the infield. Pecora gave up four walks and fanned eight while Myers issued eight free tickets to first. He failed to strike out a batter.

Levy, Loser, Victim Of Six Errors

Wiltwyck Motors, thus far a soft spot for other City League clubs, served notice Wednesday night that things may be a little different in the weeks to come.

After absorbing three straight humiliating losses in the early campaign, the Motorsmen flashed superb form last night in whipping Morgans' Restaurant by 6 to 0 behind the two-hit pitching of "Fink" McElrath.

Six Morgan errors didn't help much, as far as the losers were concerned, but with McElrath having complete control of the game there wasn't much doubt as to the outcome. According to Eddie Murphy, the league's official, none of the runs were earned.

Hank Levy was the victim of the atrocious support on the part of his mates. He went the distance and gave up six hits, one a double by Tom Henberry. Levy whiffed seven batsmen but gave up the same number of walks.

It was a rugged beginning for Levy when Munson reached first safely when Maxon dropped his best in right for an error. Munson then pilfered second and was safe on Schryver's error when he dropped Stoli's throw. The errors upset Levy so much that he issued straight passes to Stoli, Henberry and Murray, forcing in a run. On an infield play on McElrath's bouncer, Murray scored the second run.

Wiltwyck added two more in the second with the help of Levy's wildness and another miscue by Morgans. After Felton walked, Levy settled down and retired Nealis and Munson but Stoli slammed a single to right, Felton taking third on the hit. Maxon brouck rapped a grounder to Ball at third who muffed up the play for an error as Felton romped in. Again Levy went wild and walked Henberry and Murray, forcing in Stoli with the fourth run of the game.

Another comedy of errors by Morgans set the stage for the final scoring inning. Stoli reached on Schryver's boot, Henberry singled and when Hopper erred on the play in left, both men advanced a base. Both runners trucked homeward on Murray's one-base blow to left.

Bob Slover and Bill Slover were the only batters to solve the offerings of McElrath. Both collected singles.

The Colonial Merchants and Chevy Chase, both led in the league's standings with a victory and a loss will meet tonight at the Athletic Field.

Savold May Defend Crown in London

London, June 8 (P)—Lee Savold probably will defend his new British and European heavyweight titles in London next September, according to Promoter Jack Solomons.

The Englewood, N. J., veteran, who stopped England's Bruce Woodcock here Tuesday when the British boxer retired after four rounds, has numerous offers. Savold's manager, Bill Daly, said yesterday that his man wanted to fight and would take on any worthy challenge.

Among those mentioned here as possible future foes for Savold were Joe Louis (Solomons expressed little hope of getting Louis); Joe Maxim, Joe Walcott, Joe Baksi and Ezzard Charles.

Stock Car Racing Saturday at Rhinebeck

Rhinebeck Speedway will be the number one spot in the east Saturday night for stock car racing because the biggest race meet so far in 1950 is in the making.

Last week's races were cut short during the sixth event due to rain, but fans will get a double dose of speed madness this trip with more action than ever being offered to offset what was lost to the weather man.

At 8 o'clock sharp, Saturday night, a large field of cars will go in a consolation event which will be their last desperate attempt to qualify for the big 50-lap championship race which follows right after. Twelve top notch pilots already have berths by virtue of finishing among the first six in last week's semi-finals.

After the championship event, a trophy is to be presented to the winning driver and then a complete new program of racing gets underway and as usual, the final of this new card will be a 25 lap feature.

McConnell Ends Year With Freshman Squad

Ithaca — Robert F. McConnell of Kingston was a member of the Ithaca College freshman track team which has completed its season. Lacking depth in the various events, the Ithacans lost both their meets with Manlius School and Cortland State Teachers. McConnell competed in the shot put and discus.

McConnell, who is enrolled in the School of Health and Physical Education, lives at 208 Cliff-ton avenue. He is a former Kingston High School athlete.

Big Stars Carded For Quarter Finals In Tennis Tourney

Cleveland, June 8 (P)—The big stars are still in the running as the 24th National Professional tennis tournament reaches the quarter-finals stage today.

Two singles matches are slated tonight, and the matches now run best three-of-five sets instead of two-of-three.

Velby Van Horn of Philadelphia, 1945 pro king and fourth-ranking among the play-for-pay noters, meets Pancho Segura, the two-titled Ecuadorian stroker who rates No. 5.

The last contest of the night is between Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., No. 3 pro, and Frankie Parker, the thin-faced Milwaukee notor who turned pro last fall after a long amateur career that included two National championships.

Kovacs, Parker and Segura all came through with victories yesterday, and so did big Jack Kramer of Los Angeles. The 1948 pro king who is regarded as the chief rival for defending champion Bobby Riggs, also of Los Angeles.

All four of these stars won with comparative ease in straight sets of New York 6-2, 6-2, and 6-3, 6-2, 6-3. And Segura bested seventh-ranking John Nogrady of New York 6-2, 6-2.

How to Stay Alive While Boating

Summertime is boating time, and boating can be a lot of fun or it can be a prelude to tragedy if you're not careful. Here are some tips, by Coast Guard experts, on keeping your boating safe

CHECK EQUIPMENT. Oars, oar-locks, the boat itself. Make sure it's in good shape.

KEEP IN BOUNDS. Danger areas are roped off for a purpose. Obey all safety rules.

WATCH THE WEATHER. The best qualified boaters are at a loss in a bad storm.

AVOID HORSEPLAY. Many deaths annually result from playfully rocking the boat.

Up Like Cork
Georgetown, Mass., June 8 (AP)—Burleigh Fernald's cow floated out of a tight spot yesterday. She fell through boards into a 20-foot-deep abandoned well in her pasture. Bossy was stuck fast. Fernald sent for an automobile wrecker to hoist the cow but she was wedged so firmly that they couldn't get a chain or rope around her. Neighbor Fred M. Morse saved bossy and the day when he suggested that the well simply be filled with water. This was done promptly and up she floated like a cork in a bottle. Her legs were a bit shaky after her water elevator ride but she ambled back to the barn under her own power.

Deer Back After Sneak
New York, June 8 (AP)—This little Chinese water deer is quite a hooper. Considering it was born only yesterday, afternoon last night, the scrawny fawn decided to see the world—or something. It squeezed through the wire mesh fence surrounding the Bronx Zoo's deer range, tottered across a heavily traveled highway and tried to get into a restaurant. A

Woman on Parole For Biting Trooper

A Kingston woman who pleaded guilty to a third degree assault charge preferred by a state trooper who alleged she bit him on the arm was placed on two years' probation by Justice of the Peace Percy Bush Wednesday night.

Trooper A. R. Rynael said he received the bite, which required medical attention, while he was arresting Jennie Hamilton, 42, and her husband, Harold Hamilton, 47, of 56 Grant street, on public intoxication charges early Wednesday morning.

Justice Bush issued a suspended sentence of 180 days to Mrs. Hamilton.
